HUNDRED-THOUSAND-DOLLAR FIRE AT NEW YORK.

Wines and Liquors in the Subbasement of the Feltz Cafe on Broadway. Retail and Wholesale Establishments Have Been Ruined.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, June 12.—Thirty firemen temporarily overcome by tobacco smoke and fumes from alcohol while fighting a fire in a cellar on Broadway. The fire was in the sub-cellar, in which liquors were stored, and the dense smoke from the liquors hindered the firemen to such an extent that they were compelled to work in two-minute relays. During the fire an ambulance surgeon was stationed near by to care for the firemen, whose eyes caused them intense pain, after each rush into the smoke.

The damage to the restaurant was $100,000. The upper floors of the building were occupied by wholesale milliners, and the loss on their stock, which was practically ruined by the smoke, is also placed at $100,000.

Another early-morning fire in the wash-house and storage-houses of the Jacob Hoffman Brewing Company on East Fifty-fifth street, caused a loss estimated at $200,000.

WORLD'S FAIR CROWDS.

Paid Attendance Saturday Exceeded that of Any Since the Opening Day.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. LOUIS, June 12.—The statement of recorded admissions for the week ending last night, given out tonight by the World's Fair officials, show a total of paid and free admissions of 449,228, which is 100,000 more than during any previous week since the exposition opened.

The paid attendance yesterday was the largest since the opening day, the record showing that 68,476 persons paid the entrance fee. Wednesday, when the Liberty Bell was received from Philadelphia, and welcomed with ceremony to the exposition, the number of paid admissions was 61,148.

RIOT ON A TRAIN.

WALLACE (Idaho) June 12.—A riot occurred on the Northern Pacific passenger train near Burke last night, between union miners from the Hercules mine and non-union men from the properties of the Federal Mining and Smelting Company. No one was killed, but several on each side were badly hurt. The trouble was the outgrowth of an argument over the Cripple Creek explosion, in which two former Coeur d'Alene miners were killed and several injured.

PRESIDENT OF ARGENTINA.

BUENOS AYRES, June 12.—Manuel Quintana has been elected President of the republic and Figueroa Alcorta has been chosen Vice-President.

THE GREAT WAR.

DAME RUMOR HEARS OF A GREAT BATTLE.

Four Jap and Two Russian Battleships Sunk in the Engagement.

St. Petersburg Unable to Get Confirmation of Its Exclusive Story—Two Japanese Battalions Walk Into Ambuscade and Are Cut to Pieces—Bombardment of the West Coast of Liao Tung Peninsula.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, June 12.—[By Atlantic Cable.] Rumors are in circulation here to the effect that a great naval battle has taken place off Port Arthur, in which two Russian and four Japanese battleships were sunk. No confirmation of the rumor can be obtained.

JAPS LOSE TWO BATTALIONS.

HAICHENG (Manchuria) June 11.—[By Asiatic Cable.] (Delayed in Transmission.) A flanking movement of the Japanese around the Russian left from Feng Wang Cheng, June 9, was repulsed with the loss of two whole battalions.

A large Japanese force moved out in the morning along the Feng Wang Cheng and Haicheng road. The Russians had a force strongly posted in a ravine 30 miles southeast of Haicheng. The Japanese were preceded by two battalions, who walked into the Russian ambuscade. They received a murderous rifle and artillery fire at close range and were wiped out, only one or two escaping.

The main Japanese force, which was greatly superior to the Russian force, tried to outflank the Russians, who drew off without losing a man. The Japanese, closing in, found the ravine vacant, save for their own dead.

BOMBARDED RUSSIANS AT WORK.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

TOKIO, June 12., 6 p. m.—Rear-Admiral Togo reports that, Tuesday, a part of the fleet bombarded the west coast of the Liao Tung Peninsula, near Kai Chau, and drove back a military train that was approaching southward. No trains have been seen since. The enemy was moving troops and erecting works, evidently expecting a landing of the Japanese at that point, and making all preparations to prevent it.

Small gunboats sent close in by Rear-Admiral Togo bombarded the Russians at work, and it is believed caused considerable damage.

LOST THREE HUNDRED AT SIMATZA.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LIAO YANG, June 12.—[By Asiatic Cable.] Ensign Marilo, who has returned from the battle of Simatza, fought June 7, says that the Japanese lost about three hundred men. He speaks in the highest terms of the work of the Red Cross doctors, Poosen and Bentesh, who attended the wounded under fire. When the order came to retire these doctors refused to leave the station until the last of the wounded had been brought out and attended to. After the battle a wounded Russian was found with his tongue cut out and was given attention.

There is a general disinclination to attribute this mutilation to the Japanese, after the kindness which they had previously shown to the Russian wounded, and it is thought to be more probable the work of Chinese bandits. It is alleged that during the engagement the Japanese again misused the Red Cross by getting within 400 yards under its cover, and then firing volleys.

Reports of the Siu Yen fight of June 8 says that the Japanese lost 100 killed and the Russians one killed and twenty-one injured, including two officers.

PORT ARTHUR STANDS ALONE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, June 12.—Relief is felt in military circles at the removal of dissension in military circles. It is understood that the sole responsibility devolves upon Gen. Kouropatkin, and that no serious attempt will be made to relieve Port Arthur.

It is reported that the Vladivostok squadron now consists of three cruisers and four ironclad ships, therefore it is thought that the squadron has effected a junction with Port Arthur vessels. The newspapers report that there is great distress in Vladivostok, arising from the enhanced prices of food, and it is feared that the stock of petroleum and candles is giving out.

Twelve trains are arriving daily at Liao Yang with reinforcements.

FIGHT WITH BANDITS.

COSSACKS CHOP CHINESE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

HAICHENG, June 11. [Delayed in Transmission.] Ten Cossacks along the railway south of Haicheng, June 9, came in contact with fifty Chinese bandits. Fifteen of the bandits were killed or wounded, and eight were captured. The Cossacks lost one killed and two wounded.

CZAREVITCH LEAVES PORT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

TIEN-TSIN, June 13.—The Russian battleship Czarevitch, which was injured at Port Arthur, February 9, and which has ever since been undergoing repairs, has left the drydock, and is now ready for sea. Outside the harbor of Port Arthur, the sea is reported to be thickly covered with Russian and Japanese mines. The report that the Russian gunboats Giliak apd Bobr have been destroyed is untrue.

A report from Admiral Togo, June 4, stated that a Russian gunboat of the Giliak type had been blown up, presumably by a Japanese torpedo. The gunboat Bobr was reported to have been used in the attack on the Japanese left during the battle of Nanshan Hill, and to have been destroyed by the Russians after the engagement.

CAPTURES OF PROVISIONS.

RUSSIA'S POSITION UNCHANGED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, June 12.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The Russian government has not yet returned an answer to British Ambassador Harding, relative to his government's protest at Russia's declaration that rice and other foodstuffs are contraband of war, but the Associated Press learns that there is no intention on the part of the government to make modification to meet the British views. The protest is based on the rule observed by Great Britain during the Boer War, that even foodstuffs destined for a hostile country could be considered contraband of war only when intended for an enemy's forces. A high Russian official today called attention to the fact that at the breaking out of war, Russia was compelled to stop at San Francisco a cargo of meat destined for Vladivostok, in order to avoid its probable capture, in consequence of the Japanese declaration that it would be regarded as contraband.

"Rice is an important article of food in the Japanese army, and the question whether it should be declared contraband was carefully considered when the regulations were being framed," this official said, "and the decision reached by Russia entirely justified such action. The British government is disposed to regard the question as an academic one, but should steamers which are being equipped as auxiliary cruisers proceed to the Pacific and make capture of ships loaded with provisions, complications could easily arise."

Diplomatic circles are interested in the attitude of the United States in the matter.

RUSSIA TEMPTS SULTAN.

WOULD FREE HER FLEET.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, June 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Herald's London correspondent says:

"I have learned from the highest diplomatic authority, closely associated with the Foreign Office, that negotiations are in progress at the present time between the Russian government and the Sultan, looking to the passage of the Black Sea fleet through the Dardanelles, Russia, I learn, is prepared to make all manner of concessions regarding the Turkish debt, if the Sultan will ignore the treaty which forbids the passage of the Russian fleet into the Mediterranean. It can be stated with assurance that the powerful British fleet now cruising in the vicinity of the Grecian archipelago is there for no other purpose than to oppose by force, if necessary, the passage of the Russian fleet.

"Japan has been given to understand too she has nothing to fear from this source. Russia, it is said, wishes to release the fleet and hurry to the Far East, hoping that Port Arthur can hold out until vessels can relieve by sea. The British Foreign Office is closely informed of the negotiations now in progress."

THE CZAR'S PREDICAMENT.

He Would Grant a Constitution but the Bureaucrats Say Him Nay

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. PETERSBURG, June 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Notwithstanding the official denials and strenuous efforts to suppress the news, it is generally understood that the revolutionary party is intensely active, and that Southern Russia, at least, is honeycombed with revolt. News of Kouropatkin's decisive defeat or the downfall of Port Arthur, it is said, is likely to be followed by open revolt in many of the Southern provinces, at least. It is not true that the war with Japan is popular with the masses; that is, those millions of Russian populace largely influenced by the teachings of Tolstoi, who are known as the "lower class" in the monarchy, a progressive element opposed to bureaucracy and almost openly demanding a constitution.

On the latter point, it is declared that, left to himself, the Czar would undoubtedly go far in the direction of constitutional government, but thus far the opposition of bureaucracy has been all powerful. How long this aristocratic tyranny will be allowed to dominate the course of events in the Far East will probably answer. The seeds of revolt have found fertile soil in the hearts and minds of the students. They know that at heart Nicholas is in sympathy with their desires for the overthrow of despotism and the reign of constitutional rights and privileges.

The bureaucracy is divided, the differences between Alexieff and Kouropatkin are radical, and each has his bitter champions in the aristocratic clique which thus far has dominated the policy of the throne. What the outcome will be no man can tell at present, but the next few weeks are likely to be momentous in the history of the Muscovite Emperor.

REAL NICE BANDIT.

Perdicaris Writes of His Captor.

Dragged from Home Under Melodramatic Conditions, Prisoner Fares Well.

From Being Clubbed With Rifles He Rises to Position of Raisuli's Host.

Ransom Not so Much the Price of Release as to Recoup Losses.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, June 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Ion Perdicaris, the American citizen kidnaped by the Moroccan brigand Raisuli, (Fraissouli) has written a vivid letter describing his abduction to A. J. Dawson, the novelist and traveler, author of "The African Nights Entertainment," who often has been a guest of Perdicaris at his residence, "Aidonia," outside of Tangier. The letter is dated Tsaaradon, (Beniaros,) June 4. He writes:

"What an opportunity for 'good copy' you missed by not being with us when Varley and I were carried off. Nothing more startling and unexpected could be imagined. You can picture one of our quiet dinners at Aidonia—conversation in an easy domestic vein, windows all open, the table a mass of flowers, and suddenly, like an avalanche, the onslaught of Raisuli's men. That was indeed a classic scene of rapine and confusion. Nor could it be easy to conceive a picture more wild and gloomy than that of our forced journey. In fact, the illusion was After describing the dread of being killed, Perdicaris says: "You may conceive my feelings, while thus being dragged along by ruffians who began their attentions by clubbing us with rifles and threatening us with their murderous-looking daggers. I was astonished to learn the chief object of our capture. The ransom demanded is not so much the price of our release as the demand for their recouping of the losses inflicted by order of the Bashaw, from whom Fraissouli claims payment.

"I was astonished to learn our fears were not really well founded. I have learned now that Fraissouli's main object is to secure the release of members of his own tribe who were unjustly, or at least, treacherously, entrapped and imprisoned by the Pasha of Tangier, a former friend and foster brother of Fraissouli himself. Fraissouli had trusted this man and been betrayed, and whatever of ill he may have done, the fact remains he was betrayed.

"Another startling surprise was to find in Fraissouli himself the most interesting and kindly-hearted native gentleman it has been my good fortune to have known. It is impossible not to like the man, conscious as I am of the injury all at Tangier have suffered at his hands."

"The weather is superb. Fraissouli dines with us nightly."

PERDICARIS IN GOOD SPIRITS.

Commissioner Langerman Pays a Visit to the Camp of Bandits Fraissouli.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

TANGIER, June 12.—[By African Cable.] J. W. S. Langerman, commissioner of the Moroccan section at the St. Louis Exposition, arrived here today from the camp of Fraissouli, the bandit. In an interview given to the Associated Press, Langerman said:

"I left the steamer for Arzill in company with a friend and three Moors, the object being to see Fraissouli and try to arrange the present differences. I met Fraissouli and his band, fully armed and suspicious of the visit. For a few moments the situation was critical, but all passed off well.

"Ion Perdicaris, the American whom Fraissouli holds captive, is much better, and in good spirits over the prospects of his speedy release."

LABOR.

BUTTING IN AT CHICAGO.

Federation of Labor Upholds Colorado Miners' Acts.

The President and Gompers Urged to Action.

More Deportations Today from Cripple Creek.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, June 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Proclaiming that the record of the Western Federation of Miners in the Colorado industrial revolution is stainless; that union men who are now being deported by the authorities and the law-abiding citizens of the districts recently seething with uprising and murder are innocent of lawlessness or wrong-doing, and that the employers are the instigators of all the outrages that have been perpetrated during the last few months, the Chicago Federation of Labor today appealed to President Roosevelt to intercede in the struggle.

It also urged Samuel Gompers, president of the Federation of Labor, to call a meeting of union men that will be national in scope, to take action,

CRIPPLE CREEK QUIET.
MORE DEPORTATIONS TODAY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

COLORADO SPRINGS (Colo.) June 12.—A special to the Gazette from Cripple Creek says:

"The Cripple Creek district experienced a quiet day today. Gen. Sherman Bell and staff attended divine services, and transacted no business except what was absolutely necessary. Another party of deported miners will leave Victor tomorrow, their destination being either New Mexico or Utah. This party will consist of about a hundred men.

"A number of arrests were made today, and the peace commission sat for a few hours and passed on several cases. The saloons of the districts will be opened tomorrow for the first time in a week. The closing of the saloons was one of the chief factors in bringing order out of chaos."

DEPORTED MINERS ORDERLY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

DENVER, June 12.—A Republican special from Holly, Colo., says:

"About ten of the deported miners from Cripple Creek left here at midnight last night for La Junta, Colo., Pueblo, and Denver. The remainder are staying in town, and are quiet and orderly, and have been so since their arrival. They have paid cash for their meals and lodging, and made their purchases at stores, and seem to be well supplied with funds for immediate needs. They are worrying considerably over the welfare of their families who were left behind in Cripple Creek, and say that they are willing to leave the district forever if their wives and children are allowed to join them.

"It is probable that a considerable number of them will go into the country, seeking work on ranches."

MEETING OF EMPLOYERS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

COLORADO SPRINGS, June 12.—A meeting of the employers of labor was held here today, when a secret committee was appointed to draft a petition regarding the employment of organized labor in the district. The committee will meet tomorrow and will report Tuesday, when the Citizens' Alliance and the Mine Owners' Association will make known their position in regard to labor. The petition circulated on Thursday asked all merchants to discontinue the employment of all men affiliated with the Trades Assembly, the American Labor Union or the Western Federation of Miners, is being held in abeyance until the committee reports. A modified petition will be ready by June 15, according to present plans.

Sheriff Bell stated tonight that his investigations into the Independence murders will show that some "good boys" will be found to have been the worst. He promises one or two sensations in this regard in the next few days.

The seventeen men arrested at Dunnville after the battle of Wednesday will be charged with insurrection. It is understood that Gov. Peabody will appoint a military board to try these cases early this week. The fifty-one men arrested in the Miners Union Hall, Monday afternoon, will also be charged with the same offense. None of these men will be deported.

Tomorow, Coroner Hall will impanel a jury to inquire into the death of McGee and H. Davis, killed during the riot on the streets of Victor last Monday afternoon. It is understood that all the big mines except the Portland will resume operations tomorrow morning with full forces.

SEND TO NEW MEXICO.
CAMP FOR DEPORTED MINERS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

DENVER (Colo.) June 12.—A new mining camp will be opened in New Mexico, according to the Post, to receive the deported union miners from Cripple Creek. The Western Federation of Miners will work the claims on a cooperative basis, and will have entire jurisdiction over their development. Provision will be made by the Federation for all deported miners, and to this end a carload of supplies will be sent to the new camp immediately as a starter. The camp will be located near Tres Piedras, which is twenty miles south of the Colorado line, on the line of the Denver and Rio Grande.

There is a district ten miles square of virgin ore, and the work of mining it will be parceled out to the union miners. They will work on the cooperative plan, but the miners will be protected by the Federation, while prospecting. According to the story, the idea of a cooperative union camp was suggested to Secretary Haywood of the federation by A. Royal, president of the Belle Royal Mining and Milling Company of Tres Piedras, which company owns eighteen acres in the district. This property will be purchased by the Federation for initial operations.

The particularly attractive feature of the proposition to send the exiled men to New Mexico was that there they would be amenable to Federal law only. Gov. Peabody has been asked to order Gen. Bell to send further shipments of deported miners from Cripple Creek to New Mexico, and approves of the plan, according to the story.

DID NOT SHOOT SOLDIERS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ROCKVALE (Wyo.) June 12.—Coal miners who were in the skirmish at Dunnville, when John Carley, one of the Cripple Creek miners, was killed by the militia, deny the published report that the miners were first to fire. Neither were then entrenched behind rocks waiting for the militia, according to their statement, but they appeared on the scene, and fled immediately when they were fired upon. The miners deny having fired a shot. They say it would have been easy for them to have completely annihilated the small squadron of militamen, had they so desired.

UNION BUTCHERS' UNION.
SOMETHING NEW IN CHICAGO.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, June 12.—In order to free themselves from the yoke of sympathetic strikes, which their leaders have determined menace their progress, all union butchers affiliated with the Chicago Packing Trades Council withdrew from that body today. The butchers, who belong to the Amalgamated Meat Cutters' and Butchers' Workman of America, number about 22,000 men in the Chicago packing-houses alone.

They were the originators of Packing Trades Council, which was made up, not of the butchers' workmen alone, but of all the other trades in the yards.

The Packing Trades Council passed out of existance at a meeting today, when the officers and representatives of the thirty-two butchers' workmen's local unions announced the decision of the organizations to withdraw and form an exclusive central body of their own. The unskilled trades in the former council not affiliated in any direct way with the butchers' workmen are thus left to their own resources, and will be without the assistance of the butchers, who form the bone and sinew of the union organization at the stock yards in negotiating future contracts or settling disputes with the packers.

PAPER MILL STRIKE.
EFFORTS TO BREAK IT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

APPLETON (Wis.) June 12.—The first attempt to break the paper mill strike in the Fox River Valley will be made Monday in the belief of the manufacturers that the union is unable to get support in the Wisconsin River Valley, where a strike is also threatened. The Mail's correspondent at Japanese headquarters, telegraphing under date of June 11, says: "Four strong Japanese columns have occupied Suenchow, Simatsa, Liao Wa Ling and Siu Yen. Suenchow is eighty-five miles east of Mukden and Liao Wa Ling is five miles northwest of Siu Yen."

SMUGGLING OF CHINESE.

Powerful Gang on the Border is Broken up.

C. A. Springstein, the Leader, Makes Confession.

Wireless Telegraphy at Thirty Miles.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TUCSON (Ariz.) June 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A powerful gang of Chinese smugglers, set up in business, it is said, by Louis Greenwaldt of San Francisco, a professional smuggler, has just been broken up by government officers and their outfit for the manufacture of fraudulent certificates seized. C. A. Springstein, the leader of the gang in Mexico, who has made a complete confession, is under surveillance, should the United States authorities desire to extradite him, while Greenwaldt has been located in Victoria, B. C., where he is fitting out a boat for the purpose of bringing Chinese to the United States by way of the Gulf of California and the Colorado River. Hermosillo was to be his base of operations, and he was to be assisted by the Sonora gang which he recently organized.

Greenwaldt served six years in San Quentin, having been convicted of smuggling opium into the port of San Francisco on the schooner "Emerald" in the year 1892.

Since the first of March, the Bureau of Immigration of Arizona and New Mexico has been foiled by Chinese persons, charged with being illegally in the United States, but who produced apparent genuine certificates, although border officers felt sure they had crossed from Sonora. They had to be discharged, and it is now believed that hundreds bearing these certificates crossed into the United States and are scattered all over the country.

About two weeks ago, Charles T. Connell, United States Inspector at Douglas, discovered that these certificates were being manufactured at Cananea and furnished to Chinamen at $50 each. V. M. Clark, a special agent detailed to assist Connell, found two Chinamen at Naco, Sonora, with blank certificates which they had secured from Springstein, and which were to be filled out on payment of $100. Clark borrowed the certificates to examine them, and Connell drove twelve miles to Bisbee and had the certificates photographed, that the government might have a copy of them. They were returned to the Chinamen the same day, and the day following, Clark accompanied them to Cananea as an accomplice in getting them across the line, and for them he purchased two certificates from Springstein, who had his establishment in the rear of the Palace saloon at Cananea. Clark found that Springstein had a supply of some 300 certificates, a bogus seal, making the imprint, "O. M. Welburn, Internal Revenue Collector, First District of California," together with apparatus for taking photographs of the Chinamen to be attached to the counterfeit certificates. Clark watched Springstein fill out the certificates, put on the seal and attach the photographs.

Inspector Connell was on the ground, and the same day with, the assistance of the chief of police of Cananea, he raided Springstein's place of business. In the interim, he had suspected that something was wrong, and removed the outfit to his house, where it was found and confiscated by the officers. Springstein was put through the sweat box, and made a confession implicating Greenwaldt, who visited Cananea three months ago, and from whom the outfit was purchased. Greenwaldt sold the certificates, retaining in his possession the plate from which they were made. He was to return in about three or four months with a cargo of Chinamen, and the smuggling was to continue on a wholesale scale.

Springstein, in his confession, implicated a number of his agents along the line, who are not yet in custody. Jeff D. Milton, a roving inspector in Mexico, has been detailed to run them down. Inspector Connell reported at the headquarters of the district at Tucson with the outfit, which was packed up and shipped to the government authorities at Washington.

JUMPED THE VULTURE MINE.

SHOTGUN ROW IN ARIZONA.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) June 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] An injunction has been served upon George E. Sanders and Charles Kinsley, who lately jumped the famous old Vulture mine, northwest of Phoenix, known as the greatest gold producer of the southwest. It is alleged that defendants are now engaged in blasting away and removing to as great an extent as possible the evidences that the necessary assessment work had been done on the claims by the New Vulture Mining Company, the plaintiff.

The mine was visited lately by Beckwith and Hollis, Chicago attorneys, representing the company. They were promptly run off the claims by Kinsley, who had armed himself with a shotgun. The deputy sheriff who served the writ found fifteen men at work for the jumpers.

MURDERED THE BABY.

AGED GRANDMOTHER'S DESPAIR.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SPOKANE (Wash.) June 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] To hide the shame of her nineteen-year-old daughter, Mrs. Jennette Harris, an aged woman, who came to Spokane from North Yakima yesterday, strangled her child's illegitimate babe and hid the body among some rocks on the hill back of town last night. Then the woman went to the Police Station, and said the infant had been killed by a fall. She was held at the station all night, and this morning piloted the officers to the place of the tragedy, where the baby was found with a cord still tied about its little neck. The woman admitted killing the baby, and said her daughter had been ruined by a North Yakima man.

Mrs. Harris reached here yesterday morning, carrying the child. She wandered about the streets for a time, attracting much attention by her peculiar actions. An effort is being made to apprehend the alleged seducer of the daughter, who lives at North Yakima. A charge of murder will be made against the old woman tomorrow.

MORRIS'S BALD HEAD SAVES HIM FROM SUICIDE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SPOKANE (Wash.) June 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Only his bald head saved William Morris, a Colorado miner, staying in Spokane, from lying drowned at the bottom of the river, or at the morgue awaiting an inquest. Instead, Morris is safe at the hospital, draining an overdose of water fro mhis lungs and getting ready to pay the doctors, instead of the undertakers.

Morris jumped off the Washington-street viaduct. After the first plunge he floated, and for some reason or other could not sink. He came down with the current, with his bald head sticking above the water. Firemen with boathooks succeeded in fishing out the would-be suicide.

Morris refuses to give his reasons for trying to drown himself. He came originally from Colorado Springs, and has been at Phoenix, B. C., as a member of the Western Federation of Miners.

PHOENIX (Ariz.) June 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Anna G. Wilson has sued William Griffith for $10,000 damages for alleged breach of promise. The promise is alleged to have been solicited and given in June of 1902. Finally the marriage date was set for January 25, 1904. NARROWNESS NOT GRACE.

President Wison's Sermon to Princeton Students.

First Layman to Deliver the Baccalaureate Address.

Former President Cleveland in Academic Procession.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PRINCETON (N. J.) June 12.—For the first time in the history of Princeton University, a layman today delivered the baccalaureate address, the honor being conferred on President Wilson, at the request of the students. In the academic procession was former President Cleveland. President Wilson, in the course of his address said:

"The vast accumulations of wealth, the vast material equipment of civilization in our day ought not to mislead us into supposing that this is an age gross and material beyond precedent; more debauched by greed or intoxicated by material power than any that has gone before it. It is not. Though its spiritual impulses and conceptions and undertakings do not run so exclusively along the old, hallowed and familiar ways of religion, as in some noted days gone by—particularly some days that shine bright and illustrious in the early annals of our own nation—the spirit of man has waxed as strong in our time as has his hand, and has given itself to works as mighty and as influential.

"Many books and homilies have been written for us of late in advocacy of a simple life, and beneath their sentiment lies a noble and enlightening truth. There is no virtue in a plainly-furnished room, a little circle of employments; a little group of friends—no certain means of grace. The simple grace may be very mean and bare, and unrewarding. What is worse, it may be very selfish and belittling. The kernel of the moral is simply that our life is greater than the things that we handle, and that our life is in us, not in our possessions, or social or business engagements."

After saying that God is broad, and not shut up behind conventional walls, and that the college men, because of their training, ought to be the best men and men of God, President Wilson continued: "It is no doubt ordained that the world shall be saved, not only by the foolishness of preaching,' but also by the courage of action and the satisfying nobility of unimpeachable conduct, and colleges cannot make serviceable men unless they make men of brains also men of principle."

TRUSTEESHIP OF THE GOSPEL.

DR. CHARLES F. THWING'S TEXT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CLEVELAND (O.) June 12.—The annual baccalaureate sermon to the graduating classes of Adelbert College and the College for Women of Western Reserve University by President Charles F. Thwing was delivered tonight in Beckwith Memorial Church. Dr. Thwing spoke on the text of "Trusteeship of the Gospel." In the course of the sermon Dr. Thwing said:

"One of the conditions to which the trusteeship of the gospel is to be applied is the subject known as labor and capital. This condition is most serious. Two elements necessary for the producing of results of primary value to the community are inconstant, or at periodic antagonism. Capital at times seems to give ground for the judgment that nothing is so cheap as human toil and no supply so certain or so large as human life. On the other hand, the laborer is liable to be jealous of the capitalist. He feels he is not getting his full increment of the increasing force of civilization. He feels himself often opposed, cajoled, played with, fooled. He easily becomes an anarchist. He sees law breaking at the top, and he at the bottom defies the law. Sullen, gloomy, revengeful, he often is. The labor union he uses as a mighty engine of democracy, both against the capitalist and his brother workman. It is the most important tool of modern industry and of modern life.

"The first element in the rights and duties of capital and labor is an understanding of the rights and duties of capital and labor."

In conclusion, Dr. Thwing said: "I sometimes fear that forces now active may wreak themselves on the community and again overthrow civilization, as it was overthrown in Southern Europe 1500 years ago. Neither this nation nor any of the other advanced peoples of the world has any patent right to a constant progress or to a lasting existence."

BIG CROP OF PEPPERMINT.

WHERE THE PLANT GROWS AND ITS COMMERCIAL USES.

Oil Shipped All Over the World, and the Means Taken to Compel the Supply to Equal the Necessities of Commerce—Much Money in the Annual Harvest.

[New York Times:] For sixty-five years prior to a few years since the greater part of the peppermint, and, in fact, it can be said that all of the peppermint that was producted in this country, was raised in the vicinity of Lyons and Newark, Wayne county, N. Y. It was known as "Wayne County Peppermint" the world over, and, in fact, it is known by the same name today, but in reality it is not the product of Wayne county, N. Y., but Wayne county, Mich. The inception and development of this enterprise are replete with interesting facts. Had not Jim Burnett, an old Yankee peddler, more than sixty years ago decided to experiment in the production of peppermint, we would doubtless today be purchasing our oil from the Japanese, who were the first producers. Burnett was driving through Wayne county, N. Y., one day when he espied a strange-looking plant growing by the wayside. He examined it and found that it was peppermint. He knew of a man in Massachusetts who, it was said, was making a little money by raising peppermint, and Burnett thought he would give it a trial. In his travels he gathered all the plants from the roadside and fields, and distilled them on his own account. For a number of years the farmers of Wayne county kept their eyes on Peddler Burnett, as he gathered the wild peppermint crop from their fields, before it occurred to them that he was making quite a sum of money each year out of the oil he distilled. Finally they began to transplant the root from the place of its wild and spontaneous growth to places where it could be cultivated as a regular farm crop, and from that time until a year or two ago Lyons was the shipping point of nearly all the peppermint oil produced in the United States.

H. G. Hotchkiss was a country storekeeper in Phelps, Ontario county, just over the line from Wayne county, and in the peppermint belt. He took the peppermint oil from the farmers in trade, until he had on hand about $1000 worth. He brought a sample to New York, and attempted to find a market, but none of the drug houses here would touch it, not believing that it could possibly hold its own against the product of Japan. Hamburg, Germany, being the great center for the distribution of essential oils, Hotchkiss determined to test the merit of his oil in that world's market. The now obsolete 21-ounce lip-mounted ink bottles were new then, and Hotchkiss purchased enough to bottle up all the oil he had. These he hermetically sealed and labeled as follows: "Peppermint Oil from Wayne County, N. Y., U. S. A. Guaranteed Pure by H. G. Hotchkiss." He then consigned it to a Hamburg house, naming his price if accepted. He waited several months for an answer, and then he received a draft for more than he expected, and a request for another consignment of the Wayne county oil. The Hotchkiss oil had been exported back to New York, where the druggists bought it with much eagerness and demanded more. Then Hotchkiss unfolded his trick to the essential oil dealers in this market, and from that time "H. G. ... Peppermint Oil" has been the standard article the world over. Hotchkiss from that time until his death a few years ago was known as the "Peppermint King," and since his death his sons have carried on the business. They purchase the Michigan crop and bring it east to Lyons, from which it is shipped as "Wayne County Oil," and the Hotchkiss family today virtually dictates the peppermint oil market of the country.

The oil goes to the market absolutely pure, but in the hands of the dealers it is adulterated with Japanese menthol and other inferior essential oils. The wholesaler makes two pounds of oil from every one he receives from Lyons, and the retailer makes six pounds out of every pound he buys from the wholesaler. If the farmer gets $2 a pound for his oil, the wholesaler may sell it for the same price and yet get $4 for it, while the retailer must dispose of it at the same price and still get $12 for it. The fact is, that the pure oil would not supply one-tenth of the world's demand. The farmer does not get a heavy price for his crop, but he is usually satisfied with $2 a pound, below which price it seldom goes. The enterprise is growing because of the increased uses to which the oil is put, although it is believed that fully 95 per cent. of the output of peppermint oil in the United States goes into three articles—chewing gum, candy and medicines. A small quantity is exported to England, the particular brand being known as the "Mecham peppermint." The local market today is strong, the ruling price being $3.75 a pound, as compared with $2.35 in 1903, and $2 in 1902.

SNAKES AND CURIOS.

Texas Man's Large Collection of Queer Reptiles and His Experiments With Them.

[Houston Chronicle:] A whip snake is the latest addition to the magnificent collection of curios owned by R. G. James of this city. The reptile, which is four feet two inches long, was captured on Simms Bayou and brought to the city alive in a small cage. It was taken to Mr. James, who was at once in the market for it.

Following the conclusion of the trade the snake was released from the cage into another and larger one, which was occupied by a six-foot rattler, which has twelve rattles and one button adorning the tip of its tail. The two are now fast friends.

A horned toad was also placed in the cage, to add to the air of cosmopolitanism. A prairie dog also spent a couple of days there, but was so restless that it was removed. The bead eyes of the rattler had been gazing at it suspiciously, and whether or not it would have attempted to devour it is a question. Mr. James thinks not.

The snake had dinner about two weeks ago, and it is not yet time for its supper.

"The length between meals of the reptile family," explains Mr. James, "depends upon the species. The whip snake, for instance, will do very well if it has breakfast in May, dinner in June and supper in July—once a month is often enough for it to feast. The rattler craves food about every twenty-one days, excepting in its winter hibernating period, when it goes without food for six months."

Mr. James says that he once owned a king snake which did not eat a bite for two years, and was fleshier at the expiration of that time than when he first secured it. The reptiles must have plenty of water.

In another week the rattler will be ready for his meal. Something live must be provided for him, for he will not eat dead meat. A pigeon, a rat or a couple of mice will do. A pigeon is usually the easiest secured. It is placed in the cage at night, and seems at once to apprehend its fate and resigns itself to its fate. In the morning the pigeon has disappeared, and not a feather is left behind. A knotty protrusion of the middle part of the reptile's body is evidence of its whereabouts. It is swallowed whole. The method of feeding is this; the live object to be swallowed is taken into the mouth with one great gulp, and is held there for a few moments during which it is covered with saliva, and then it slips down as easily as a pill.

Mr. James explains that the Coachwhip snake gets its name from the whip-like fashion in which it uses its body and slender tail. In running it will at times elevate its head one to two feet above the ground in its search for food or its attack upon an enemy. Its bite is not poisonous, but its fangs are long and sharp. It fights by slashing its tail as well as by biting.

Mr. James consented to an experiment to test its real whip-like energy. He cautiously opened the cage, watched his chance, and caught the snake around the neck, in such a way that its jaws were held tightly together. He then drew it from the cage. A blacksnake whip in the hands of an expert back woodsman could not have cut more curve through the air than did the reptile with its tail and body. So rapid were the strokes that its slender tail at times fairly cracked. One of the bystanders who was struck said the blow smarted like the cut from a buggy whip. The energy displayed was astonishing and there was no cessation until the reptile was caged.

Mr. James at one time had a fine collection of sharks, but they, with hundreds of other of his specimens, were swept away in the Galv storm. He lost thousands in it, himself and family had such racking escapes for their lives th have not yet fuly recovered.

The keeping of sharks is not a pastime. For them, as well as salt water fish, a special brine ture of salt, chemicals and fresh ter will furnish the required ele Two tanks are required, one fo fish to live in and the other to the mixture. If the combination properly made the fish will b effected with "fish leprosy" or ro Their tails begin rotting off an decay will continue until the vit gans are reached.

Again, water must be maintain an even temperature. If a n comes along there must be a h apparatus to add thermal qua The sharks in their native eleme deep for warmth when the surfac ter becomes chilled. All condition be compiled with, Mr. James and the sharks maintained in a aquarium.

GIGANTIC COMBINE TO CONTROL MINING.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, June 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The announcement will be made soon of a gigantic new combination of capital in the United States and Europe to control the mines of America, headed by John D. Rockefeller. The corporation will have a par capital of $2,500,000,000. It is expected to control absolutely the mineral output of the United States, except, possibly, that of the Calumet and Hecla copper mine of Michigan.

Within the last ten days Rockefeller has taken up personally the task which had been left to his brother, William Rockefeller, and to H. H. Rogers, who have been conspicuously identified with the mineral interests of the Standard Oil Company. For ten years the Standard Oil millionaires have been acquiring the mines of America through banking interests.

In Colorado, David Moffatt and Dennis Sullivan have paid out many millions in the last six years for producing mines, and are said to control the mines producing the gold, silver and lead of the Middle Rocky Mountain district.

Senator W. A. Clark, owner of the United Verde copper mines of Arizona, and with large holdings in many of the Amalgamated Copper Company's mines in Montana, has been working with Rogers for several years.

Placer gold interests of Southern California controlled by Southern California banks are in such condition that they can be taken over at any time.

The only stumbling block in the way of the deal is the insistence of Heinze on being an officer of the new company. In working out the deal Rockefeller hop

THEY KNOW THEIR BIBLE.

Remarkable Exhibition by the Immanuel Children.

Sunday-school Graduation of Unusual Nature.

An Institution Producing Missionaries.

"Mamma, do you see me?"

The hundred or more tots of the "Birdie" class were being massed on the platform in Immanuel Presbyterian Church yesterday, just to be on dress parade for their fond mammas and to sing a wee, silvery song, such as might come from the throat of a tiny thrush, when one of the "birdies" chirped out unexpectedly: "Mamma, do you see me?"

That was the spirit of the entire charming celebration of the Children's day anniversary. It all seemed a part of the play, and everybody exclaimed: Well, wasn't that good?"

It was the annual festival when the little ones are put up to do something, the classes are graduated from the lower grades and when the big people tell all about it and take a collection.

The school connected with Immanuel Church has made rapid strides in a few years, under the efficient superintendence of W. E. McVay and the exceptionally competent heads of the lower departments, Mrs. Wheelan and Mrs. Guest, and over all the regular pastor, Dr. Hugh K. Walker. The school now enrolls 1050 scholars, but numbers do not make it the best it is. Evidence is not lacking to show that it is a school that accomplishes something in the work it professes to do. This is indicated not alone by the remarkable exhibition Bible study yesterday, but from the fact that last year three of its members went as missionaries to the foreign field, two during the preceding year and one at an earlier time, and there are now all engaged in work as missionaries. Furthermore, Dr. Walker stated yesterday that two-thirds of the increase in the membership of Immanuel Church during the past year, on profession of faith, came from the ranks of the Sunday-school. The entire lower floor of the large auditorium was reserved for the Sunday-school yesterday and the ceremonies took the place of the regular preaching service. The big folks filled the space around the edges and crowded the gallery, and it was one of the most inspiring and beautiful scenes.

The feature of the entire programme was the graduation exercise and it was plain to be seen that this was well done for mere show, as the children were subjected to an exhaustive and trying examination in study of the Bible and they acquitted themselves in a remarkable manner. There was a class of forty-one graduates from the primary department under Mrs. Whelan, and a class of forty from the intermediate department under Mrs. Guest.

The classes were massed on the platform at different times and recorded separately to about one hundred and fifty questions put to each class. The responses were made in unison and in the most perfect rhythm, there not having been a slip or hitch of any character in the entire 300 questions. This is the more remarkable, when it is known that the questions were designed to test the graduates' knowledge of the whole Bible, the single answers included the recitation of the Twenty-third Psalm, the Ten Commandments, the Beatitudes and other things requiring long and intricate recitation. Through it all, not a voice wavered nor interrupted the fascinating perfectness of the time in which the words were spoken.

At the close of the exercises the members of the primary class were presented with handsome Oxford Bibles and diplomas showing their graduating, while the members of the intermediate class were given handsome diplomas, having received their last year. The presentations were made by Dr. Walker in his usual happy manner.

Dr. Walker also made a brief address to the congregation in which he gave expression to the sentiment that there must be a very lonely place without children and that the church without children must realize that it very soon will amount to little.

Giles Kellogg talked briefly of the spirit of Children's Day, and the Sunday-school orchestra rendered a number of selections.

The little tots of the primary department were bunched on the platform and sang two numbers to the delight of all the grown-ups. Following are the names of the graduates:

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Fair Not Properly Advertised.

W. D. Curtis of Los Angeles writes a letter to The Times deploring "the shortsighted policy frefuently displayed in spending millions of dollars in an enterprise and resewing practically nothing for publicity." He says the World's Fair at St. Louis furnishes such an example, and says in part:

"In a recent Washington dispatch to The Times I notice that Secretary Shaw has telegraphed to ex-Gov. Francis, president of the St. Louis Exposition, calling his attention to the lack of interesting stories in the newspapers about the wonderful things to be seen at the fair. In this dispatch Secretary Shaw expresses the wish that something be done to arouse interest in the fair. This manifested interest by Secretary Shaw is of course due to the fact that our government loaned the exposition $10,000,000 and that $4,600,000 is due June 15. . . . A certain hotel and resort on this Coast expended something like $150,000 on building and furnishing a magnificent structure, but reserved nothing for advertising purposes. As a result they have received very little patronage for the reason that the public knows nothing about the advantages offered.

"The same is true of many of our new manufacturing concerns, who may manufacture superior articles in many ways and by means of salesmen place a great number of initial orders, afterward congratulating themselves upon their apparent success. They, however, have not succeeded. The real test comes later in disposing of their goods to the consumer. The retail dealers must be unloaded before they will reorder again—in a word, the public must be gotten at in some way.

"While the fair is a sort of advertisement for the city which gives it birth, yet the main object is educational. The general public, by their attendance, learn much in a short period of time regarding the world's progress. To spend over $50,000,000 for mere show is a waste of good money and energy. The fair without people is a failure. The more people the greater success. You cannot get the people unless you first interest them. . . . If the St. Louis fair is a failure in numbers and finance it will be due to the lack of intelligent newspaper and magazine advertising."

The Graduates Are Pleased.

Their bouquets were made of "Vawter Carnations" from the Ocean Park Floral Co. now located at 122 S. Spring st. E. J. Vawter, president. Don't forget us.

CATHOLICS' REJOICINGS.

Corner-stone Laying Follows a Rededication.

Rites at Sacred Heart and St. Thomas Churches.

Bishop Conaty Preaches to Great Audiences.

With a pomp and reverence that emphasized the magnificence of the ceremonies of the Roman Catholic Church were the rites celebrated at the laying of the corner-stone of the handsome new mission-style Church of St. Thomas the Apostle yesterday afternoon.

Before the appointed hour a large assemblage that almost hid from view the massive foundations of the new structure gathered. Promptly at 3 o'clock the procession of church dignitaries marched between the long lines of guards formed by the societies of St. Joseph, the Ancient Order of Hibernians and the Catholic Foresters, to the chancel where the altar will be placed. After mass was sung Bishop Conaty blessed the corner-stone, which was swung into position at the northeastern corner, under the direction of the contractor, Andrew McNally.

After the corner-stone was placed, a ceremony seldom witnessed in these prosaic days followed. Like the Israelites of old marching around the walls of the city, marched the retinue of priests clad in their vestments, chanting their songs of praise to God. In attendance upon the Right Rev. Bishop Conaty were Very Rev. J. Glass of St. Vincent's parish, Rev. P. Hawes of Santa Monica, Rev. J. Barron of Boyle Heights, Rev. D. W. J. Murphy of Hollywood, Rev. C. Molony of St. Agnes, Rev. G. Donahue, Rev. W. Quintan of the Cathedral, Rev. S. Cain of Pasadena, Rev. W. L. Hennessy of Ocean Park and Rev. J. J. Clifford.

Warm praise for Rev. J. J. Clifford, pastor of the Church of St. Thomas the Apostle, who has wrought so well since his recent appointment to the parish, marked the opening words of a sermon that appealed to both Catholics and Protestants gathered to hear Bishop Conaty. The text, taken from the first epistle to Corinthians, iii, 11: "Other foundations can no man lay but that which is laid, which is Jesus Christ," was appropriate to the occasion.

In the course of his sermon Bishop Conaty said:

"It is no idle ceremony that gathers us here today. It is no vain, passing pomp or show of magnificence. Religion calls us together and bids us establish here a temple to the Most High God, to plant another cross by the highway of busy, bustling life; to erect another altar from which the smoke of sacrifice shall ascend to God, another mercy seat whence will come blessings to hearts weary with sin, longing for virtue, another oracle speaking to man's intelligence and making known the truths of God.

"Men from all time have recognized the necessity of religion, and they have expressed the religious idea by some form of worship. All nations, even those in barbarism, felt a national law urging them to a worship pleasing to God, as they understood Him. And all have looked to Him for guidance, for some word to determine how He wanted man to serve Him. Man's unaided reason would lead him to that conclusion. God did reveal Himself, and the old law expressed that revelation; but the old law, in its highest form, looked to one who was to come and make known the perfect religion.

"Christ was to be the pivot on which all religion turned, Christ to come, and Christ in the flesh, the very word of God. In all the records of God's dealings with man, nowhere do we find that He allowed man to build religion according to the whims and caprices of men. Nowhere do we find man left free to accept or reject religion as laid down by God, without incurring the displeasure of God. Everywhere God appears as a teacher, imposing His will on men, whether by patriarch, prophet or special messenger, or through Jesus Christ, the great Teacher.

"The assertion meets with an error of the day, which asserts that 'religion needs no dogma;' in fact, that 'the religion of the future is a religion without a creed.' In other words, this means no religion at all, for it destroys the very essentials of religion in making it depend on man and not equally upon man and God, in God's will and man's cooperation with it. We live in an age when it is considered intellectual to force all doctrine to the bar of human reason, to deny all divine authority and make all religion purely subjective. Dogma, or creed, is called by these people, a degradation of intellect, and religion without dogma is the ideal religious state. No form in religion, no dogma in religion, is their cry, and as a result we see all positive religions whittled down to a few axioms which are as much at home with paganism as with our nineteenth-century naturalism. What do they mean by religion? What do they mean by dogma? They assume that true religion is purely subjective, and that dogma is not intellectual truth. Both assertions we deny as false. The very assertions they make are the dogmatic expressions of principles and by them they prove the contrary of their own position.

"Christ needs to come again to the minds and hearts of men and illuminate them with truth and influence them with love. Reason clamors for the illumination which must come from God, who alone can satisfy the cravings of truth. Religion points to Jesus Christ as the finisher of our faith, the great teacher who is to make God known to us. Humanity is sick at heart, for it has fallen among thieves, and has been stripped of its very possessions. It needs the Good Samaritan to heal its wounds. Christianity has been blinded by false teachers, whose errors have clouded its vision and it needs the sun of truth to penetrate the darkness and cast upon it the effulgence of its rays. The Church of Christ bids humanity cast off its shackles of slavery to the caprices of men and rise into the freedom of the children of God. It summons reason to its tribunal to learn truth, which is alone intelligent. It bids reason test all its teaching in order to find in it what will square with all the demands of intellect, for all is truth, and truth fears no inquirer.

"And so, brethren, this church, your church, rises in your midst, claiming your allegiance and asserting the same right to teach you religion. It comes with authority as a teacher and demands your obedience. Examine its credentials, test its authority. See, its emblem is the cross. Its commision is from the successors of the apostles who received the commission to teach the world. It comes with no new doctrines, no theory of men, no schools, but with a code of dogma and morals handed down across the centuries, unchangeable and unchanging. It tells you that it is not of yesterday, but that its founder is none other than Christ Jesus, our Lord, and it asks you to examine its foundations. It preaches to you the same doctrines that were preached by your fathers, in other lands, and it tells you that its doctrines have made the saints. It asks you to study its truths, and test them by reason, by tradition, and by the holy word of God, and it points to its record across the ages, of unity and goodness, and mercy and salvation as an evidence of its divinity."

St. Joseph's Benevolent Society was in command of Marshal John Riddell and Andrew Pikert; the Ancient Order of Hibernians were marshalled by David O'Laverty and President of Division P. F. O'Brien; the Catholic Foresters by J. J. Clancy and Chief Ranger C. B. Bailey.

Heaps of money jingling into the coffers of the church formed a climax to the ceremonies of the day. Many view in friendly contest for the possession of the silver trowel used in laying the massive corner block of granite. Andrew McNally, president of the Pioneer Building Company, as the largest contributor, was awarded the prize.

REDEDICATION.
SACRED HEART CHURCH.

Feelings of gratification must have mingled with those of devotion in the hearts of the members of Sacred Heart parish yesterday, as they gathered to witness the rededication of their beautiful church edifice at the corner of South Bichel and Baldwin streets. It would be hard to find a more churchly structure, both as to interior and exterior, within the bounds of this diocese, and yesterday was the culmination of many years of faithful labor by a loyal band of parishioners, among whom there are few wealthy persons.

The church was built under the ministrations of Father Harnett, about eighteen years ago, but only roughly finished inside, and the parish struggled under a heavy debt for many years.

About two years ago Rev. M. McAuliffe, the present pastor, and a company of active laymen undertook the task of remodeling the interior of the church, and making notable changes on the exterior. These changes have been fully set forth in The Times, with illustrations.

Yesterday morning the rededicatory services occurred, and not only the Catholics of the parish, but many from other parishes of the city, were early gathered at the church grounds.

At 10 o'clock an imposing procession passed out of the parochial residence on to Bichel street, and marched to the church. There was the cross-bearer at the head of the procession, followed by the altar boys, the priests and the bishop.

This procession passed into the portals of the church, up the main aisle to the altar, thence down the south aisle and back the north aisle to the sanctuary, making a complete circuit of the interior, and reciting the dedicatory ritual as it proceeded.

Bishop Conaty took his seat within the sanctuary, attended by Very Rev. J. S. Glass, C.M., D.D., and Rev. M. McAuliffe, as deacons of honor. Rev. D. W. J. Murphy, pastor of the Church of the Blessed Sacrament at Hollywood, was the celebrant of the mass; Boyle Heights, was the deacon, and Rev. William Quinlan of the Cathedral, the sub-deacon. Rev. George Donahoe, the bishop's secretary, was master of ceremonies.

Other priests present during the services were Rev. P. Victor, O.F.M., of St. Joseph's Church; Rev. Clement Molony of St. Agnes's Church, and Rev. Juan Caballeria of the Church of Our Lady of Angels.

The floral decorations were beautiful and elaborate. The high altar and the altar to the Sacred Heart were in red and green, carnations and potted ferns being used with great profusion. The altar to the Blessed Virgin was in white and green.

After the mass Bishop Conaty preached a masterful sermon from the Psalm: "I have loved, O Lord, the builders of Thy house and the place where Thy glory dwelleth."

Sacred Heart Church is noted for its excellent music, but it is doubtful if the musical programme of yesterday was ever surpassed in that church. During the dedicatory services Misses Winston and Ebert and Messrs. Zinck and Wallace sang the bishop's hymn, "Ecce Sacerdos Magnus." For the solemn high mass, Haydn's "Imperial Mass" No. 3 was rendered, and before the sermon the choir sang La Hache's "Veni Creator." For the offertory, "Coelestis urbs, Jerusalem" was sung by Miss Winston and chorus.

The soloists were Miss Winston, Miss Ethel Osborn, Messrs. Pauly, Wallace and Schwamm, and the choir was augmented by the following well-known singers: Miss Jennie Winston, Mrs. Mary Schallert, Haae Zinck, Frank W. Wallace. Harley Hamilton had charge of the orchestra, and the whole programme was under the direction of Miss Mary L. Donoughue, who is the organist.

As a crowning finish to the artistic interior of Sacred Heart Church yesterday there was placed in the sanctuary a set of white enameled chairs, trimmed in green plush, for the priests, and stools in similar style for the altar boys. The church has also received from friends a handsome confessional and a beautiful carved oak pulpit. The outlay on the remodeled church represents a total of about $15,000.

After the services yesterday Rev. M. McAuliffe, the pastor, gave a dinner to the visiting clergy at the parochial residence. Covers were laid for ten, and Christopher served.

BURGLAR GETS LOTTERY CARDS.

DEALER IN THE TICKETS IN A BAD BOX.

Fails to Notify the Police and Pretends that Store Was Not Robbed. Cigar Man Who Has Been in Illegal Business — San Francisco and Other Cities Warned.

A burglar made a good haul in a cigar store on South Spring street Friday night, but the proprietor evidently doesn't care to catch the thief, as no report was made to the police, and it is even denied that such burglary was committed. The thief secured several hundred lottery tickets along with a number of articles of merchandise. To this feature of the case was due the discreet silence of the cigar-store owner and his indignant denial of the facts.

While the assistance of the police has not been asked, telegrams have been sent to San Francisco, New Orleans and other homes of lotteries, warning the companies not to cash certain numbers in the event that prizes are drawn. The cigar store is one of the most notorious in Los Angeles. Crap games in the rear have frequently been raided by the police, but the lottery-ticket selling has never been successfully squelched.

POLITICAL.

NEW YORK REPUBLICAN.

Tammany's Fight on Hill Has Made it Certain.

Bryan and Hearst to Form a Union Labor Party.

Gorman and Murphy Plan a Stampede for Grover.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, June, 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] So bitter has become the fight between the Murphy and Hill factions of the Democratic party in New York City and State that it is now conceded that nothing short of the obliteration of Hill and McCarren will placate Murphy and put Tammany Hall squarely in line for the State and National Democratic tickets. The war has been carried to such an extent that every office-holder under the Tammany city administration recommended by McCarren, the new leader of Kings county, has been removed by Mayor McClellan and replaced by those owing loyal allegiance to Murphy.

Three weeks ago, the Republicans were ready to concede that New York might be in the doubtful column; now they are claiming, and with no opposition, that the State is sure for Roosevelt and the entire State Republican ticket. Financial interests which have been reported as antagonistic to the President, are no longer manifesting open opposition. They realize that the Democratic party is in hopeless chaos, and wisely concluded that it is folly to contribute an enormous campaign fund to a hopeless cause and at the same time challenge the hostility of the next administration, whose advent is conceded to be as certain as politics can be.

The course of the Hearst papers since the climax of the Colorado labor troubles and the renewed activity of union-labor politicians in Hearst's interests lead to the belief that the difference between conservative Democracy, which seems certain to dominate at St. Louis, and the yellow editor and his chief ally, Bryan, are irreconcilable, and that Hearst and Bryan are sure to bolt and attempt the foundation of a new party, backed by labor interests and with Hearst as the Presidential nominee. With this new party, Murphy will have naught to do, but its advent will in no wise heal the breach between Tammany and Hill and McCarren.

Split, even with two hostile factions, Democracy's case is utterly hopeless. With Hearst and Bryan controlling union labor in the third faction, conservative Democracy hardly constitutes a pitiful remnant with which to oppose the Republicans' united forces.

ANOTHER BOOST FOR GROVER.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, June 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The World this morning says the factions in the Democratic party opposed to the nomination of Judge Parker by the St. Louis convention will, unless something unforseen occurs, assemble in this city today to decide on a course of action. It is believed that Senator Gorman, National Committeeman Guffey of Pennsylvania, ex-Senator Smith of New Jersey, Leader Murphy and Thomas F. Ryan of Virginia and New York, together with some lesser lights, will meet here today, either in person or by proxy, and try to form a plan to head off Parker's nomination. This combination and its adherents have made a canvass of the situation, with the purpose of bringing about a boom for Mayor McClellan, but it is now privately acknowledged that this is a failure. They have now concluded—and may, before the day is over, make public the announcement of their conclusion, but will in all probability nurse their hopes until the convention meets—that Grover Cleveland is the only man who can defeat Parker.

The whole aim of the combination is not directed so much at Parker as it is at ex-Senator David B. Hill, whom its members distrust and fear. The conclusion which all of those political schemers have reached is that only with Cleveland can they encompass Parker's defeat.

While for the most part antagonistic to Cleveland, their hatred of Hill outweighs every other consideration, and, refusing to believe Hill is but a mere follower in the Parker army, they have determined to use every effort to endeavor to stampede the St. Louis convention to the ex-President. It is this coterie of Democrats who have successfully prevented the endorsement of Parker by ironbound instructions in Kentucky, Virginia and Alabama, and they believe they can combat the efforts of the Parker boomers in Mississippi, Texas and other Southern States, leaving Judge Parker at the time of the meeting of the national convention with only his instructed and implied strength, as it exists today.

This combination expects to control sixty-eight votes in Pennsylvania and the Gorman strength, including Maryland, West Virginia and the District of Columbia; Virginia, through Thomas F. Ryan; Ohio, through J. R. McLean, and the strength of William R. Hearst, as well as that of William J. Bryan.

The opposition to Parker will argue that an antithesis of President Roosevelt is the only man to win; that Cleveland is such a man, as everyone knows, and no one knows aught of Judge Parker's opinions.

"Parker is beaten," said a big Tammany leader last night. "He may have led in the race, but the men who are opposed to him have clinched and copperriveted a third of the delegates who will never consent to his nomination. The Hearst and Bryan votes, with the Gorman strength and a few scattering votes absolutely opposed to Parker will do the trick.

"Virginia is positively not for Parker; it is for Gorman. Tammany has received, no later than today, from a member of the delegation an assurance of that fact. Ryan is opposed to Parker, so there you are. A third of the convention can be counted upon absolutely to oppose Parker, until the crack of doom, if necessary."

HARRISON, HOPKINS, HEARST.
CHICAGO'S ALLITERATIVE SPLIT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, June 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Three Democratic factions, those of Harrison, Hopkins and Hearst, will leave in great force for the Springfield convention tomorrow. Each faction will include marching clubs and bands. There is little interest in the nominations, but a bitter fight is expected over the Presidential delegates and control of the party machine in the State. It is believed the Harrison and Hearst factions will join hands to depose John P. Hopkins from the State Committee chairmanship.

HEARST OUT OF IT.
PARKER AHEAD IN TEXAS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DALLAS (Tex.) June 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The latest returns from Democratic county conventions give Parker 370 votes. To carry instructions, 460 are necessary. It is clear that Hearst is out of it and the fight will be for a Parker delegation or an uninstructed delegation.

Mississippi for Parker.

JACKSON (Miss.) June 12.—The Democratic State convention to name delegates to the National Convention at St. Louis will meet here Wednesday. There are 258 votes in the State convention, and the indications tonight are that Parker will come to the convention with a majority of the votes instructed for him. One hundred and thirty-five is a majority, and he had 127 instructed votes, with a half-dozen more counties to act tomorrow. John Sharp Williams will likely be the permanent chairman of the convention held Wednesday.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

COLORADO SPRINGS (Colo.) June 12.—A cloudburst, a few miles north of this city, raised Monument Creek almost to the point of flooding the lowlands of this city. The cloudburst occurred late this afternoon, and the creek reached a depth of ten feet before 7 o'clock. A Rio Grande bridge, north of town, was washed out and all foot and low wagon bridges were washed away.

No particular damage was done here, except to the water system, but reports of damage down the Fountain Valley are expected.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SEOUL (Korea) June 12, 11 a.m.—M. Hayashi, the Japanese Minister to Korea, left Seoul today. Korean officials and members of the diplomatic corps assembled to bid him farewell. M. Hayashi declares that he probably will return here at the end of a month or six weeks. The colleagues of the Japanese Minister are unanimous in the praise of his tact and successful bearing throughout the difficulties of the past four months, and it is generally believed that, on his return, he will be instructed to take definite steps toward the adjustment of Korean and Japanese relations.

TOKIO, June 12, 3 p.m.—The military commission assigned to bury the Russian dead in the battle of Nanshan Hill at Kinchow, May 26, presented its final report today. AT THE CITY'S GATES.

UNIVERSITY.

YESTERDAY was commencement Sunday for the University of Southern California. Both the baccalaureate sermon in the morning and the annual sermon in the evening were delivered in the local Methodist church. The auditorium was tastefully decorated with the university colors, cardinal and gold, red carnations and yellow flowers being used to carry out the effect. Rev. Dr. Henry A. Buttz, president of Drew Theological seminary, preached the baccalaureate. He discussed Christianity as exemplified in the life of the Apostle Paul. In this the speaker made a strong appeal to the members of the graduating class to accept Christ and live a truly Christian life. The annual sermon was delivered by Rev. Dr. F. D. Bovard, editor of the California Christian Advocate. He argued that the Christian religion is not narrow and exclusive, but broad and all-inclusive. His thought was clear-cut and forcefully presented. He told his young hearers to take up the broad and all-satisfying faith. Special music was rendered at both services by the choir of the church. There were large congregations both in the morning and in the evening.

LOS ANGELES.

Members of the Church of the Saviour enjoyed a strenuous outing one day that will long be remembered by each participant. The party went by tallyho to Santa Monica, and everything went on well until in coming down one of the steep grades the tallyho was overturned. There was a general scattering, but Father McAuliffe, the pastor of the Immaculate Heart parish, escaped serious injury by a record-breaking jump that landed him nearly at the bottom of the cañon. Anthony Schwamm received a discolored optic, which he carefully nursed, and Miss May Horgan was pitched to the bottom of the creek and rescued in a fainting condition, but was not seriously injured. Others of the party escaped with slight bruises.

STENOGRAPHER REGRETS MEETING DIAMOND SCHEMER.

Lulu Sleezer, the stenographer who committed suicide in Douglas, Ariz., Tuesday, hailed from Southern California. A sister, Mrs. Frank Parker, is the wife of a San Bernardino locomotive engineer. Her mother lives in this city, to which place the body is to be shipped for burial. Miss Sleezer had worked as a stenographer in Los Angeles and Pomona. She had become interested while in Bisbee in J. A. McGill, manager of the fake diamond distribution scheme. When McGill disappeared, the girl was deeply affected. Soon after she went to Douglas, to be "treated" by a Christian Scientist for her mental ills. Later she called in the services of a regular physician, but terminated his treatment by swallowing some carbolic acid that had been left for disinfecting purposes.

AT THE FAIR.

"How do, Mr. Jones; I didn't know you lived in a swamp!" said the Boston Man to the fellow from San Francisco who had to wear a frock coat with his duck trousers because he came away in a hurry and couldn't afford to pay three hundred dollars, which was the special World's Fair price for pants. Before the answer could come the whole multitude turned its eyes on a man of faultless attire, who walked calmly through the red hot midday air, his white vest and cool blue suit enveloping him in an atmosphere of icy comfort.

"He is one of those Los Angeles men," said the San Francisco tourist, trying to get his feet into the pockets of his Prince Albert. "I hope he doesn't see me, for we boast in San Francisco that our city is the best dressed town in the West, but there's a firm down in Los Angeles that is making a specialty of fitting out Fair Go-ers, and I see our reputation going to the dogs."

"You mean Silverwood's!" said the Boston Man, while he helped himself to some beans from his cigar case.

"That's the place."

"Well," said Boston, "the Fair is all right, but I'm going to break away after another week and go to the Coast to get fixed up. Silverwood's is about right for me."

We're fitting men for the Eastern trip with everything they ought to have. Better come in and have a talk about it.

THE GREAT NEW FURNITURE AND CARPET HOUSE

MEDICAL BOON FOR THE SICK AND POOR.

SATURDAY afternoon at the Medical College on Buena Vista street, first ground was modestly turned for the most complete and elaborate clinical buiding in the West. The dedication ceremonies will take place on the grounds next Thursday, and the structure will be pushed to completion as fast as may be done. It is expected that the new quarters will be ready for occupancy in October.

The new structure is to be of two stories, designed by Architect John C. Austin. Its erection will be a labor of love, for no money is to be made from it, and it will only take its place as part of the educational institution affiliated with the University of Southern California.

The building will be 60x50 feet in size, two stories high, and of handsome design. A waiting-room will be in the center of both floors. On the lower floor will be located a complete pharmacy, children's clinic, consultation-room, medical clinic, clinic for diseases of the eye, ear, nose and throat, and a fine laboratory.

Above will be the gynecological clinic, a department for genito-urinary surgery, a dressing-room, two general surgical clinics, and an operating-room as perfect in its appointments of science and sanitation as modern medical art can prepare. A sterilizing-room, a badly-needed feature of the college at present, will be constructed on this floor.

The new clinical building is expected to cost $20,000, and though all the money is not at hand, the officers of the school say that the addition is so badly needed that they will put it up without further waiting.

Among the efficient and faithful workers whose toil seems about to see effectual realization are Dr. Granville MacGowan and Dr. Walter Lindley. These two busy physicians have spared neither time nor expense in their personal effort to further the cause of ample facilities for study and research.

It means a great deal to the poor people who live along Buena Vista street and in the vicinity of the Southern Pacific yards. Many of these—the majority of whom are peons—are too poor to pay the prices demanded by skilled doctors from downtown, and probably would not think of calling upon them anyway. For years the small rooms of the present college building have been crowded with charity cases, and now the class will receive such attention as can only be given in the finest hospitals.

A feature of extra expense will be the plumbing. This will be of solid porcelain, specially ordered from a firm of eastern manufacturers.

The Medical College was established in 1895, and its land and equipment has been held in trust by the Hospital Building Association. It was built on borrowed money, but this—thanks to careful management—has all been paid back, and the institution is now free from debt.

The holdings of the Hospital Building Association have just been transferred to the College Clinic Association—a new organization whose work—purely philanthropic—is designed to be perpetual. To become a trustee one must be a member of the medical faculty.

Although enabled to clear itself from indebtedness and run its business upon an economic basis, the Medical College has never been a money-making institution. It was never designed to be, as all funds unused have been devoted to the procuring of more complete equipment. The dean of the faculty is Dr. Walter Lindley. Dr. MacGowan is the school's secretary.

SAN FRANCISCO'S GREAT DRAWBACK.

No one who sees San Francisco, the splendid metropolis of California, can fail to highly praise that great city. But there comes, unavoidably, an accompanying regret that the city is not even greater. To one who studies conditions carefully there soon comes recognition of what constitutes San Francisco's greatest drawback.

The northern city is union-ridden to an abnormal degree. Its industries have been embroiled in almost constant labor troubles. Unionism has made itself a great power, and has used that power with characteristic selfishness to advance its own interests at the expense of the city's general welfare.

The marvelous progress of Los Angeles is in strong contrast to the struggle which San Francisco has had to rise to its present eminence. But Los Angeles glories in industrial freedom and individual liberty. Strikes, boycotts and all the weapons of unionism have no terrors for the people of Los Angeles. If a man wants to build a business block or a home here, he can proceed in the knowledge that the work will not be seriously interrupted and perhaps stopped by some unwarranted and silly walk-out brought about by an interfering walking delegate. Industrial enterprises of all kinds can go ahead without fear of constant labor troubles.

If San Francisco were as free from this unionism plague as is Los Angeles, the Bay City would experience quite as marvelous a growth, and at once. And the contrast between the two cities is strongly brought out by their respective building records.

For instance, in San Francisco during March, permits were issued for 186 buildings, at an estimated cost of $1,400,432; 63 permits for alterations at an estimated expense of $106,568, and permits for 218 minor additions and alterations (mostly for repairs not exceeding $500 in cost,) at an estimated expenditure of $39,655; making a total of $1,546,655.

During the same month in Los Angeles permits were issued for this same class of construction, amounting to $951,029, or within $589,626 as much as in San Francisco. The month of March is taken because authentic figures for that month are at hand.

The bulletin issued by the Census Bureau on April 7, gave to San Francisco an estimated population of 355,919, and to Los Angeles an estimated population of 116,420.

It will be remarked that Los Angeles, with a population, according to the Census Bureau estimates, of less than one-third that of San Francisco, had a building record for March almost two-thirds as great as that of the northern city.

That the building records of the two cities should be so out of proportion, population compared, is due in great measure to the fact that Los Angeles is free from the domination of unionism and the further fact that San Francisco is in the merciless grasp of walking delegates, labor agitators and other demagogues. Happily, the fight now being waged in the Bay City for the "open shop" and against the unionist forces which have so greatly injured the city, shows many evidences of going forward to a successful issue; and as soon as San Francisco is free from the domination of unionism it will go by leaps and bounds to the position of greater importance, size and prosperity to which it is eminently entitled.

PRESERVATION OF RECORDS.

Much interest attaches to the movement toward securing the permanency of public records by improving the quality of ink used in preparing them. With the invention of the quill pen in the sixth century and the attendant introduction of a thinner and more perishable quality of ink the permanency of documents was first seriously jeopardized. The subsequent development of the pen and its demands for a free-flowing ink appear to have materially shortened the life of all ink records. David N. Carvalho in his book "Forty Centuries of Ink," declares that the public papers of the United States will become unreadable before the close of the twentieth century. The State of Massachusetts has foreseen this danger and all ink used for public records in that State is now selected by an official chemist. The effort in New York to secure similar legislation so far has been unsuccessful, but the agitation of the subject promises to lead to a general reform in the matter of writing ink.

It is interesting to contrast the condition of ancient public documents in Mexico with those in the United States. The latter are fast losing their legibility, while those of Mexico, on the contrary, remain usually very distinct. Mexico's ancient papers are remarkably legible. The ink remains black and clear. In the City of Mexico the "actas," or minutes of the City Council, now nearly 400 years old, are seemingly unmolested by the touch of time. In the City Hall archives may be seen the signature of Hernan Cortes as fresh as if penned yesterday. The same is true of the signatures of the first Aldermen, and of the quaint antique text of the records. In fact, many ancient title deeds to city and rural property in Mexico are more legible than are deeds written thirty years ago; hence the promise that chains of title in the City of Mexico which run back thirty years are good and valid. The same legibility is found in the old Mexican books of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries; they are printed on good paper and with honest black ink, and are in splendid condition today.

It will probably be many years before the typewriter is generally admitted to use in the preparation of public and court documents, and in the meantime scores of important and historical records will be written in ink. It will be well, therefore, to take some heed of the warning sounded by Mr. Carvalho and look to the durability of our public-record inks; and, if need be, follow the lead of Massachusetts in providing for expert chemical inspection of such ink to see that it comes within the requirements and is of a quality to successfully survive the ravages of time.

THE STRENUOUS LIFE.

To what end is this our strenuous life leading us? Is the golden glint of coin luring us toward the gulf of extinction? Are we traveling a pace so fast that it is sapping our very souls and driving us into a cowardice that may mean effacement? Are we becomcoming so self-centered and so intent upon the chase for wealth and its attendant luxuries that we are developing a fatal pessimism and timidity?

These and many allied questions are suggested by the oft-recurring cases of self-destruction; and they are forced upon us emphatically by a consideration of the insignificant causes of suicide in many instances.

New York City experienced a "suicide cycle" Wednesday. Up to 7 o'clock at night fifteen cases of suicide had been reported to the police. One girl killed herself because her mother scolded her for staying out too late. Another girl drank carbolic acid because her school report was not as good as she expected it would be. Lack of employment, discouragement over first failures in certain undertakings, disappointment over losses and various other causes were assigned for other cases.

But the large number of suicides from financial troubles, from failure to achieve what our gilded age calls "success," from discouragement over continued poverty, is appalling.

The daily dispatches are seldom free from reports of suicides, for one cause or another, many of them insignificant to all but the one who takes his own life. It is noteworthy, too, that many very young men are among the self-destructionists.

Evidently, we have departed too far from the simple life. There are too many demands upon us; we demand too much ourselves. Envy is rampant. Greed is abroad in the land. The worship of the golden calf has exceeded all reason. Restlessness, discontent, pessimism are in the air. We are working at a high nervous tension all the time—under a strain that is too much for frail humanity.

And why? The old story of the "flesh-pots of Egypt." As fast as one longing is satisfied, another springs up, far more difficult to satisfy; and so we are involved in an endless reaching out after the glitter and the veneer.

It's time to stop. The game isn't worth the candle, good people. Life is too short to waste it in chasing the unattainable or that which, if attained, is not worth what it has cost. We are losing the secret of life, missing its happiness, overlooking its glories in pursuit of a will-o'-the-wisp. Let us take down our Stevenson, dust off its loved cover and turn to his creed—then "read, mark, learn and inwardly digest:"

"To be honest, to be kind—to earn a little and to spend a little less, to make upon the whole a family happier for his presence, to renounce when that shall be necessary and not be embittered, to keep a few friends, but these without capitulation—above all, on the same grim condition, to keep friends with himself—here is a task for all that a man has of fortitude and delicacy."

That's it, good friends—there's the whole of it in a paragraph. And Stevenson knew—he tasted the bitterest of cups—he drank deep of it—but he was happy.

Come, let's turn from the flesh-pots of Egypt to the real, the true, the worthy glories of this wonderful world of ours, and find happiness; lift ourselves out of ourselves; live for the very joy of living; fight our fight like men—and at the end, die like men.

ADVERTISING CALIFORNIA ORANGES.

A Redlands paper recently published an interview with the secretary of the Redlands Board of Trade, in which he stated that he had become somewhat famous since his ideas in regard to advertising Redlands oranges in eastern publications had been referred to in a local paper. The Redlands man is by no means the first to make this suggestion. It has been suggested on many occasions by The Times, and as long ago as 1894 the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce advocated this plan. The chamber asked the growers to levy a tax of one-fourth of a cent per box, to be used as an emergency fund for advertising, protecting and securing legislation on citrus fruit. If this had been carried out, there would have been a large fund available today. It was also suggested by the chamber at that time to purchase every poor crop that was in the field, preventing the shipment of culls and puffed fruit.

The secretary of the Redlands Chamber of Commerce is quoted as follows:

"It is not necessary that Redlands growers join in with any other orange-growing sections in advertising the product. It is well known by those who are informed on the question that Redlands oranges are superior to any other grown in California. This superiority should be our hobby, and we should not be confounded with other localities, where the fruit is not up to the standard of that raised here."

This course would, in our opinion, be a mistake. The amount which the orange growers of Redlands could afford to subscribe for advertising purposes would produce little appreciable effect, for good advertising is expensive. The money should be contributed by all the orange growers of Southern California, and Southern California oranges advertised, not those of Redlands, or Riverside, or Pomona, or any other particular locality. If the Redlands orange growers should begin to advertise their particular fruit, and then half a dozen other localities should adopt the same course, it would merely result in confusing Eastern consumers, and the good results would be to a great extent aborted. Let us start a campaign for the liberal advertising abroad of Southern California oranges, and lemons, and olives, and celery, and climate, and other products of which we make a specialty, leaving each particular district to take advantage of such work according to its merits.

Hearst's New York Journal recently remarked that the nation will have in the field next fall two Presidential candidates, "one a Republican, with nine-tenths of his body and soul owned by the trusts; the other a Democrat, the trusts owning ten-tenths of him." In the light of Mr. Hearst's avowed intention to support the Democratic nominee, it will be interesting to watch his attempts to be consistent with himself a little later in the game.

Mrs. Hearst has now cut off her support of the Harvard Egyptological exploring expedition at Girgeh, to which she guaranteed $12,000 a year for five years. The work will be discontinued as Harvard does not feel able to continue it unaided. Evidently the plugging of the Hearst bar'l was deferred somewhat beyond the exact "psychological moment."

Adjt.-Gen. Bell reports that the good work of cleaning Cripple Creek of unionism is practically completed. If this is true, Colorado's wounds will at once begin to heal and she can soon go marching along the prosperity road as robust and hearty as ever.

Uncle 'Lige Dowie has been refused admittance to all London hotels, and was compelled to seek shelter in the Zionist headquarters. The London innkeepers evidently do not propose to convert their places into a continuous vaudeville performance.

There now appears to be no lingering doubt in the mind of the Western Federation of Miners that the law-abiding people of Colorado meant just what they said when they declared that unionism must seek other fields for its pernicious activity.

Score one for the much-maligned Chicago lake breeze. It recently disarranged the false whiskers of a thief who was at once arrested and $11,000 recovered which otherwise would have been lost.

It must be confessed that the Looloos look much better in second place than they did a short time ago. But there is still room for just one more improvement in their appearance.

Despite the apparent intimacy between Mr. Fairbanks and the Vice-Presidential nomination, your Uncle Joe Cannon is still taking a long circuit around the latter.

An esteemed medical journal assures us that there is a great difference "between heterothyroid and homothyroid grafting," but its all the same to Joe Folk of Missouri.

Arthur Brisbane gives it out cold that Hearst is the only self-made candidate in the field. This constitutes a direct slam at the power of the good old American dollar.

"Shall the Mischief go after the cup?" a newspaper heading asks. There seems to be scarcely any question here. Mischief usually follows the cup.

Kansas wants it distinctly understood that she does not propose to have those deported Cripple Creek unionists inflicted upon her.

At the present writing the St. Louis convention appears to offer a fair field and no favors.

Apparently the bucket-shops have not yet "kicked the bucket."

John Bull finds that "Holding on to the roof" is strenuous business.

At the Churches Yesterday.

REV. J. S. THOMSON, pastor of the Independent Church of Christ, in the Simpson Auditorium, preached yesterday on "Our Third Sacred Book." He spoke along these lines:

Christ taught nothing more plainly than that He was sent into this world for a definite purpose, and this purpose was the will of God. In this matter, He represents every person; for all men and women are sent into this world for some necessary and divine purposes. This fact should be taught every child in wise and clear ways. Every effort that is made to fulfill this purpose of our earthly existance is recorded in the Book of Life. The treasures which Christ says neither moth nor rust nor thief can touch are written in this book. They belong to us forever. The worst man on the earth has done some good things; and it might surprise us to discover here many good things our criminals have done. They have said kind words, they have done kind deeds, they have had good thoughts, they have some love in their hearts, they have spoken truth. The whole life of a criminal is not a lie. There is in him a divinity that has spoken for good things. These expressions of truth and righteousness, these virtues, cannot be destroyed. God will not deny them. Virtues cannot be destroyed in the universe of a just God; but sins can be destroyed in the course of time by repentance, reformation and God's forgiveness. "The wood, hay, stubble," will be destroyed by fire, and "the gold, silver, precious stones," will stand the test of fire, and "the man himself shall be saved, yet so as by fire," says Paul. Each one is writing in his book of life every day; and it is important to write good and true things. Every one will be judged by the things he writes. The book of life is a wonderful book, and it cannot be burned; nor can the writer deny his book. The book of life is sacred, because life is sacred. To lose the soul is to let the opportunities of this existence slip without improving them for perfection.

"A Door Opened in Heaven."

At the First Christian Church Rev. A. C. Smither preached yesterday morning upon "A Door Opened Into Heaven."—Revelations iv, 1. He said, in part;

"No subject is of more perennial interest to man than that of the future. Men long to know of the future world. In response to this yearning of man God has made revelation on this subject, permitting John on the isle of Patmos to lift the veil and witness and reveal some of the things in that unseen land. A study of his visions is most helpful.

"The conspicuous figure challenging John's attention was Jesus. How differently appareled was he than when he walked the valley of sorrow. There he appears upon a throne arched over with a rainbow, surrounded by twenty-four thrones, whose occupants joined in his worship and praise. Before his throne they cast their crowns. To him alone was committed the task of opening the sealed book and revealing its marvelous contents. Before him also appears all the living and the dead and from the book of life in which are written their records he commits each to that destiny for which he is fitted by character and service. Surely no such dignity belongs to any one save the eternal Christ, who is the Savior of men and judge of the world.

"John saw the spirits of men in the future world that were continuing their existences and upon the evidently just principle that they arose or sank in the scale of being in proportion to their character and service. This responds to the question of the human soul that if a man die he shall live again. The future life is but this life continuing. The veil that separates the living from the dead is very thin. Character is not changed in death. The grave has no power to transmute character. As men die they shall continue to exist in the future world. Let him that is filthy be filthy still is the voice of justice and of revelation.

"The inspired revelation has much to say concerning the condition of the righteous. They were those who in great numbers had come up through great tribulations and had washed their robes in the blood of the lamb. They are a great host which no man can number. They serve God day and night, continuing doubtless in the development of that power of service which they rendered God in this world. They are without hunger and thirst, having no material body to provide for. They are without sin, the spirit of loving obedience to God being supreme in their hearts. They are without tears, their last pain and sorrow being left in the grave with their perishing bodies. Their happiness is complete and eternal. For their enjoyment and habitation a city of glorious beauty, value and of magnificent proportions came to earth adorned as a bride for her husband. In this city in a new heaven and new earth fitted to their redeemed powers, they are to dwell. This new heaven and earth will be filled with righteousness, having no temple, for each soul shall be a perfect sanctuary, in which God shall dwell, having no sun for light for the divine presence shall dissipate all evil and sin. In joyous and perfect fellowship with God the souls of the redeemed shall live in eternal felicity.

"The inspired seer had another vision far darker and more terrible, but one that answers some of the deepest questions that arise in men's souls, such as whence the power of evil, whence its origin, what its relation to God and to good. In words thrilling with apocalyptic grandeur war is described in heaven. The dragon and his angels were warring with Michael and his angels, and Satan the deceiver of this world was cast out of heaven and came to earth to carry on his diabolical deeds. He has continued this rebellion against God, and goes up and down the earth seeking whom he may overthrow. He has sown the race with discord, and filled the human heart with the blackness of evil. For his supremacy in the world he has waged the deadliest war in all history. The human mind fails to comprehend the strange fact of his existence in the universe. The only apology for his existence is that the best in life and character is that which survives the world, is wrought out in the mighty struggle of the right and wrong in the royal battle for supremacy. The revelator paints those that yield to the machinations of the arch enemy of the race is destined to suffer with Satan. suffering of evil. Evil always suffers. The wages of sin is death. The good must in the nature of things be eternally victorious.

"This wondrous vision of the future closes with the matchless invitation of the Christ, and his bride to all men to come and take of the water of life freely and live in the eternal peace of God. Who could resist such opportunities of mercy? Who could turn away from the loving Christ who opens up such fountains of life to all who will follow in His holy footsteps?"

To Graduates.

Rev. Dr. Frank D. Talmage, preaching in the First Presbyterian Church last evening, addressed himself particularly to the school and college graduates of Los Angeles.

In this discourse the preacher emphasized the importance of definite aim at the outset of a career, and pointed out the folly of a "wrong start," which usually ends in disappointment or ruin.

In the course of his sermon Dr. Talmage said: "Ahmasaed of the Twentieth century, clear-eyed and broad-chested, it is very important that you get the right start. The stronger you are mentally and physically the more important is it that you direct your energies aright. The swifter the locomotive's velocity, the more essential is it that it be under the charge of a skillful engineer, for it to have a good straight track, and to be equipped with a safety brake. The longer the carrying range of a rifle, the greater the necessity of having the barrel aimed straight, before the marksman places his forefinger upon the hair trigger. Therefore, the object of this discourse is to tell young men not only how they are to start, but also how they may have an overruling providence to guide them when they start.

"Young men, you are going to meet temptations and dangers which only your eye can see and only your ear can hear. It is absolutely essential that you have a moral code by which you can be able to discern quickly right from wrong. You should have a spiritual compass which will teach you how to steer clear of the concealed reefs, and the jagged rock of sin as the mariner protects himself against the destructions of the sea by chart and magnetic needle. You should have an indicator which lifts the danger signal of sinful explosions, as the engineer, by watching the water in his glass tube, knows when the boilers by his side are doing their proper work. You should have this moral compass, because the first great essential for every true success is that a young man shall be honest, that he can and will distinguish right from wrong, and do the right, no matter what the temporary cost may be. It should be to you spiritually what in a temporal sense the compass is to the explorer, plunging into the darkness of a South American jungle.

"The Bible is the greatest safeguard a young man can have. Some time ago an old soldier showed me a mutilated Bible. He had carried that book next to his heart all through the Civil War. In one battle, however, a bullet from an enemy's rifle tore its way three-fourths through the leaves of that book before it was halted in its deadly mission. That Bible saved that soldier's life in a physical sense. But, in a spiritual sense the word of God can stop the onrush of every Satanic arrow. That book can be a breastplate as well as a moral compass. It will teach us, no matter what the crisis of life may be, to do as Jesus would have us do. It will teach us the great lesson which Charles Sheldon's book tried to teach, to follow 'In His Steps.'

"But there is still one more great essential for true success. It is the quality to which we give the name of magnetism. The rewards of success come to men who not only do their own work well, but inspire others to do their best. During our school days we recognized this influence in college sports. We elected the captains of our baseball nines not only because they could play ball well, but also because they had the right kind of influence over their men. They could personally set them the right kind of examples, and would allow no drinking or carousing. When on the dismond their mere presence, as we boys used to say, 'would steady the team.'"

Tomorrow evening the annual commencement exercises of the College of Music, U.S.C., will occur at Simpson Auditorium.

The exercises are of course open to the public without charge, and the programme is a large one, containing a very comprehensive list of vocal and instrumental compositions. It is as follows:

The third concert of the Treble Clef Club's sixteenth season will be given at the Woman's Clubhouse Thursday evening. This organization, under the direction of J. B. Poulin, is completing a prosperous year, both musically and otherwise.

THE PLAYHOUSES.

Maude Adams.

Maude Adams will open a three-day engagement at the Mason Operahouse tonight.

This celebrated young star, playing her first local engagement in leading roles, offers to the Los Angeles public her greatest success, "The Little Minister."

It is said that Miss Adams is supported by a capable company, and that the balance of the production will be in keeping with her own part as the winsome "Lady Babbie."

"GOO GOO EYES" UNDER ARREST.

CHARGED WITH CRUELTY TO SORE OLD HORSE.

Other Nag Shot by Veterinary Surgeon — Italian Fishmonger Who Has Raised the Ire of San Pedro People—Has Money in Bank and Probably Elsewhere.

Antonio Peters, the Italian fish monger of San Pedro, who is one of the oldest and dirtiest characters of the harbor city, will appear in court this morning on the charge of cruelty to animals. He was arrested Saturday afternoon by Humane Officer Zimmer, who went to San Pedro for that purpose.

"Goo-goo Eyes," as he is commonly called, is a good faker. When arrested he cried real tears, tore his hair with his bony fingers and wailed that he had no money and that his family would starve to death if he were put in jail, but it was all a bluff, for he has a snug sum in the bank and changed his tune when he got to the Angeles. He put up $25 and swore that he would plead not guilty and demand a jury trial. How rich the old fellow is nobody knows, but he is said to have money buried in the ground in the hills back of San Pedro.

The offense for which Antonio was arrested is one of long standing. He has been driving an old nag, all the way from the fish market on the pier in Los Angeles, the poor animal being almost ready to fall upon arriving there. On May 18 he was stopped by Officer Earl Rogers and told that he could not drive the beast any more unless without getting into trouble with the S.P.C.A. Later that afternoon Officer Zimmer caught Antonio driving along the knock-kneed, sore-backed, broken-down horse out on one of the residence streets, while he peddled his goods with the aid of a tin horn. The poor brute is now being fed in a roomy pasture at the city's expense.

The flagrancy of Antonio's cruelty is a well-known fact in San Pedro," Officer Zimmer said last night. "The people of there have been incensed over it for some time. Only yesterday a veterinary went to San Pedro and shot the other nag because it was in the throes of the glanders and farcy. This was really the cause of the shooting of a branch of the S.P.C.A. in San Pedro, the people being so disgusted with the spectacle which his cruelty made on the street. Justice Bishop of San Pedro has warned the fish man, but to no effect."

MATHENY TAKEN.

Alleged Bank Tunnel Conspirator from Los Angeles Arrested at Gravesend Races.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, June 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Louis Matheny, after an absence of three years, during which time Secret Service agents have hunted him the world over, was arrested at the Gravesend races yesterday by Secret Service detectives and taken to Newark and delivered to the agents of the Department of Justice there. Matheny, who is known as "Raffles," is college-bred and belongs to a noted Indiana family. The charge against him is robbing the postoffice at Shiloh and Alloway, N. J., in 1901. After giving bail Matheny disappeared. He went to Europe, but came back about ten weeks ago. Recent jobs bore signs of his delicate handiwork, and Secret Service men have been trying to locate him ever since.

Matheny has a Los Angeles record. In 1894 he was tried for the murder of Officer Cashin in Oakland, but got free. In 1895 Los Angeles suffered from many safe robberies. Just as the police believed they had secured evidence to fasten crimes on Matheny and a man named Stevens, the two men disappeared. The following year Chief Glass discovered a tunnel 150 feet long leading to the vaults of the First National Bank. Glass, it is said, gave Matheny and Stevens three hours to get out of town. They were gone in less time.

THE MARK OF GOOD CLOTHES KNOW US FOR BEST VALUES

Suits Regularly Worth $17.50 and $20

Owing to the rapid sales in our regular $15 lines, we were compelled to replenish that stock from the next higher grades. This makes nice picking for those who come now, for while we still maintain a price of $15, we do it at the expense of our $17.50 and $20 suits.

We fit you at $15 from those smart Tweeds, Cheviots and Homespuns and give you a choice of fancy high-class mixtures obtainable nowhere else at that low price.

The Straw Season.

If you are going to get a straw hat, these are the days you should be wearing it. We have a fine array representing all the best styles in Milan, Rough and Ready and Chip hats. Also the swellest line of Panama hats in town.

Short lengths of new silks at half

Today the balance of the short lengths left from our banner season's selling will go on sale at exactly half their regular yardage prices.

The lot includes just about every sort of silk that meets Fashion's favor—and none that don't.

1 to 7-yard lengths of solid color Taffetas, Louisines and Peau de Cygnes, regularly 85c to $2; Monday 42½c to $1 a yard.

1 to 5-yard lengths of black Indias, Louisines, Pongees, Grenadines, Peau de Soies and Crepe de Cygnes, 18 to 36 inches wide, regularly 50c to $1.50; Monday 25c to 75c yard.

2 to 13-yard pieces of Taffetas, Armures, Louisines and Peau de Cygnes, regularly $1.00 to $1.50; Monday 50c to 75c a yard.

1½ to 10-yard lengths of Cheney Bros' 24-inch Foulards, regularly 85c to $1.50; Monday 42½c to 75c yard.

All sets table linen reduced 1-4

Really good table linens are always "as good as wheat"—very, very few lines of merchandise stick so closely to established prices.

Even the short lots are seldom sold a quarter under price, and to get unrestricted choice from such a collection of fine damask sets as this store carries seems almost too good to be true. Dozens and dozens of distinctly different designs in sets ranging from ten to one hundred dollars at a full quarter off.

35c towels 25c 21x46-inch bleached Turkish towels, hemmed; the firm, woven quality regularly sold at 35c. We own fifty dozen of them at a price that lets us say "25c each as long as this lot lasts."

15 cent batistes 5c

New? Certainly—no old stuff here at any price.

Reduced because they aren't selling as freely as we expected them to. Though WHY they're "slow" is something we can't understand. They're the heavy quality just suited for beach and mountain wear; the patterns are pretty dots and striped effects on blue, green, pink, grey, tan and white grounds; the width, 32 inches.

No question about the ridiculously low price of 5c effecting their clearance today.

First week of the June Sale of Undermuslins eclipses all past records.

Just as we expected. We planned for it—bought lavishly of the exquisite hand-made underwear from France and the choicest machine-made garments from this country—then marked all at the very lowest prices we can possibly afford to take. Today we enter the second week with several lots of underwear at even greater reductions from regular values than the ones you discriminating women bought up last week.

25c mercerized sateens 18c

One of our windows shows a lot of 32-inch mercerized sateens of the quality equaled by few at 25c—now on sale here at 18c.

Not wrong colors, or remnant lengths. There's white, black and navy blue grounds, with white dots, stripes and figures; also navy or black dots, figures and stripes on white grounds. Heavier and finer grades in the same width at 25c instead of 35c.

Navy or black grounds with white figures, dots, stripes or checks.

$1.50 to $2.50 parasols $1

A streak of luck for beach-goers—a lot of new parasols of silk and brocaded mercerized materials at $1.00 each. Plain and fancy colors; some with fancy borders.

All new—and would be $1.50 to $2.50 each if we'd paid full worth.

Shetland Floss reduced

To induce fore-handed women to lay in a supply for knitting, crocheting, etc., during vacation we cut the price of "Bear" and "Sunlight" brands from $1.10 to 82½c a pound—12 skeins. Every color in full assortment of shades.

Offer holds good this week only. See window display.

20c to 50c laces 15c

Fortunate purchase of a line of trimming laces brings a big saving to those of you who have wash dresses to trim. White, cream and ecru bands and edges in Cluny, Torchon and Val. patterns, regular 20c to 50c values at 15c a yard.

Limited quantity, so be spry.

Mohair dress stuffs some under half value

The long-wearing qualities of mohair make it a popular dress stuff all over the country—and their dust-shedding qualities make them particularly desirable for this section. Latest arrivals are silk-finished—you can hardly tell them from real silk. Coarse and fine weaves in 45-inch fancy mixed mohairs at $1.50 a yard. Various colorings.

$1.00 and $1.50 mohairs 50c Some plain, some fancy mixed. Half and a third actual value because we bought that way. But only enough for today and Tuesday.

50c and 75c mohairs 35c Fancy mixes in cream and colors—another little lot that we own under value. Hardly enough for today's selling.

$1.50 to $2.50 fabrics 75c Voiles, etamines and crepes in mixtures, plain and combination colors. We've no hopes of getting more at this price. Offer limited to Monday only.

Bit of Advice to Women.

Don't pick out a man for a hu simply because you love him. The important thing is whether he ou. A woman who loves her hu better than he does her is a d n which he treads. If he lov better than she does him, he er as a goddess and spends h rying to win her favor.

A too adoring wife bores a man er affection, but no woman ever nough love given her to satisfy nd the more affection a man h pon her the stronger the claim ehishes. After marriage a th hings draw a woman's heart husband; a thousand things rm from her.—[Woman's World.

HIGH IDEALS ABOUT RACING.

BELMONT PARK TRACK WILL BE THE LIMIT.

Scheme to Make It the Fountain Head of Horse Racing Conducted Along Unheard-of Lines Wherein Everything Will be Pure and Holy. Honesty the Slogan.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, June 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Press this morning says: "With the completion of Belmont Park, which doubtless will be the greatest race track in the world in every detail, the Jockey Club will be in a position to call upon Gravesend, Brighton Beach and Aqueduct tracks and the Jamaica monstrosity to come in out of the wet or perish from anemia, the red blood corpuscles of racing dates being squeezed out of them. The Central Trust can take these properties over like the steel trust, paying for them with the stock of the central organization in proportion to the several values, and devote the exterminated tracks to other objects of civilization, and the owners and racing will profit thereby. With Belmont Park, Sheepshead Bay, Morris Park, Bennings, Buffalo and Saratoga, the turf of the State would constitute a quadrilateral, impregnable to assault from legislative, judicial or combined nonconformist interference.

"Then there will result adequate transportation. Purses will be worth training and running for. There also will be a turf management that will not discriminate between a poor owner and a purse-proud magnate in the matters of racing and right and wrong. Stakes will cease to be 'guaranteed' falsehoods. Racing will be under one powerful, single executive and administration, without fear or favor. The race horse will improve instead of deteriorate. The thousands of worthless animals that now encumber the turf and spoil all racing will be relegated to the plow. Selling platers will be approximations to Irish Lads; all trainers will be equine scientists, all jockeys will be artists. Fraud will vanish from the turf. It will be the millenium of the institution."

CLASSIC DERBY.

ENGLISH LAD FAVORITE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, June 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The American Derby to be run next Saturday at Washington Park, is attracting widespread attention. High Ball, the sensational two-year-old of 1903, does not appear to like the Derby route, and owing to his crushing defeat by Bryn Mawr at Gravesend Saturday will not be a starter in the American Derby. Certain Derby starters are: English Lad, 127; Elwood, 127; Moharib, 125; Fort Hunter, 125; Flo Bob, 122; Flower King, 115; Bell Center, 119; Lonsdale, 122; Proofreader, 122; and Prince Silverwings, 122.

On the form of the horses it looks as if English Lad and Moharib would be struggling for the money at the finish. There is a reliable report that Jockey Shaw is coming from New York to ride English Lad. In that event the Cook colt is sure to be favorite over Moharib. It is likely that Proofreader will be the only California representative to start. He is by Orsino, a son of Ormonde. Bill Curtis, winner of Ascot Park Derby at Los Angeles, is regaining his best form and may prove a contender.

MORE DERBY NEWS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, June 12.—Horses are rapidly arriving at Washington Park and all rumors as to the abandonment of the meeting were set at rest tonight by Secretary Howard, who stated positively and finally that the meeting would run as scheduled from June 13 to July 16, inclusive.

"There has never been the slightest intention of the Washington Park Club calling off the meeting," said Mr. Howard, tonight. "When we gave out the entries for the Derby and the conditions for the rest of the races, it made our twenty-five days meeting a certainty. I look for a splendid field for the Derby.

Moharib's victory Saturday makes him a formidable candidate. English Lad's defeat does not make Fred Cook's horse any less dangerous and Fort Hunter's win at Buffalo shows this colt to be a good one."

Secretary Howard announced tonight that no telegraph wires would be allowed on the ground. One of the telegraph companies has in the past had a number of wires into the ground, but these will be shut out this year. Newspapers will be given ample telephone facilities, but outside of this no messages will be allowed to be forwarded from the track.

High Ball, William F. Scheftel's American Derby colt, will not come west to start in the classic event next Saturday.

HAGGIN'S PRIVATE TRACK.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LEXINGTON, (Ky.) June 12.—It was announced today that J. B. Haggin, the millionaire turfman, would soon complete a private electric track from the front gate of the Elmendorf Farm, to his residence. Arrangements have been completed to connect it with the Paris and Lexington interurban line. Haggin can then step in his private car in New York and not leave the car until he steps out on his front porch. The interurban electric line connects with the railroad. He will use the private track also for hauling coal and other freight.

GREAT RACING RECORD.

J. RANSCH RIDES SECOND.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PARIS, June 12.—Edmund Blanc's bay colt Ajax, by Flying Fox-Ami, today won the Grand Prix in the Paris of $40,000, distance about a mile and seven furlongs, this stable thus accomplishing the rare feat of carrying off the three great events of the year, the Prix de Diane (the French equivalent to the English Oaks,) the Prix de Jockey Club (the French equivalent to the English Derby,) and the Grand Prix.

Everything combined to make the occasion an immense success. The weather was delightful, the clouds tempering the heat without threatening rain; the field and attendance was both popular and fashionable. There was almost a record display of charming summer toilettes, remarkable even for this brilliant function.

President Loubet, accompanied by Mme. Loubet, drove in state to the course, and received the heartiest greetings from the huge crowd, which was gathered along the route. After receiving a welcome by the authorities of the club, President Loubet went to the new Presidential stand and watched the race with the keenest interest.

Ten horses started for the Grand Prix, about half a dozen being at fairly short prices, although Ajax was a hot favorite.

The race was hotly contested, W. K. Vanderbilt's Turenne, with the American jockey, Ransch, up, leading almost to the finish, when Stern called on Ajax for a final effort, which landed him a short half-length ahead. The third place fell to MacDonald II, of Blaffe's second string. The victory of the favorite was naturally very popular and the youthful jockey received a great ovation.

PLAYER BADLY HURT.

FATAL SLIDE TO BASE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHILADELPHIA, June 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] While chances for his recovery are as one in a thousand, Charles Binder, 21 years old, is alive tonight in Jefferson Hospital with a broken neck. Sliding for a base in a ball game, and at the most exciting part of the contest, the knee of the opposing player was pressed into the back of his neck, and the full weight of the man's body followed. Players nearby heard a crack like the snapping of a whip last, and Binder, drawing his legs up convulsively for a moment, stretched out and lay as if dead. There was a rush into the field, and the injured man was carried off in an ambulance on the gallop.

Drs. Da Costa and Spencer, two of the most skillful surgeons in the city, performed an operation immediately. The cervical vertebrae were fractured and the spinal cord itself bruised. The injured man was incapable of motion from the point of injury down to the very tips of his toes. He was fully conscious when placed on the operating table, and seemed to understand the serious nature of his hurt. The splintered bone was removed, and a compress was placed to force the cord in place, but the surgeons were not at all confident that the patient's life could be saved.

GRANEY WILL BE REFEREE.

FIGHT ARTICLES STIPULATE THE PRETTY BLACKSMITH.

Munroe's Manager Objects to Eddie on Account of Young Corbett's Experience—Jeffries's Knee is Still Painful, but He Will Begin His Work This Morning.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Despite the objections of Harry Pollock, manager of Munroe, Billy Delaney insists on Eddie Graney as referee of the fight, and so does Coffroth. The articles of agreement state that Graney shall referee the fight, and Pollock seems to be up against it. In some quarters the opinion prevails that Pollock is merely squaring himself with Young Corbett. Manager Coffroth when asked about the referee question, said:

"The articles call for Graney, and he will be the third man in the ring next Friday night."

JEFF'S CONDITION.

CHAMPION IS ALL RIGHT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

HARBIN SPRINGS, June 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] When Champion Jim Jeffries awoke this mornig he was not much encouraged by the appearance of his injured knee, but by 11 o'clock when the doctor arrived, the swelling had subsided and the knee showed improvement. Dr. Devining examined the champion's knee and after asking the patient several questions in regard to his general condition, the doctor made this statement:

"Jeffries's knee shows great improvement, and I am pleased with his condition. I do not think the bruise will fester, and if it does not the champion will be able to do a little light work Monday. He has an elastic knee bandage, which he will use between now and the fight, which I think strengthens his knee."

Jeffries rested easily all day and seemed to be in the best of spirits. He is feeling fine and is very anxious to get back to his training.

HARES AND HOUNDS.

LOS ANGELES DOG WINS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The talent knew so little about Tom King, the winner of today's open reserve stake at Union Coursing Park that 5 to 1 was wagered against him in the first round with Hudson. When the black hound, almost unknown to local coursing devotees, beat the fast Hudson with ease, the bettors began to take notice. Consulting the programmes they saw he was by Rock Island King and Irma, and that his owner was H. Haddington. He is a Los Angeles dog, and has not coursed at Union Coursing Park for a long time. In the deciding course Tom King was 4-to-1 favorite, and won a pretty course by a score of 11 to 4.

The champion stake result was also a surprise, but not so great. J. Sweeney's McVey won, beating Sea Lion, Palo Alto and Rector in succession. Richard Anton, the favorite, was beaten by Rector in the second round. After that Rector was the favorite over McVey at 3 to 2. An undecided course, in which McVey led, did not change the betting. There were twenty-two upsets during the day.

HAPPY TURNERS.

WIN GRIEFERS' PRIZES.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN DIEGO June 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] This has been a busy day for the Southern California Turners, who are holding their annual turnfest in this city. Various contests were held during the morning and afternoon and tonight there is a grand ball. The first prize for the best all-round turning was given to Max Winter of San Diego and the first prize for the essay to Emily Oder of Los Angeles. The singing contest resulted in a tie between San Diego and Los Angeles sections. In the third or highest class in turning, Los Angeles carried off the second, third and fourth prizes, the winners being George Mastrovick, Herman Strum and Fritz Walter. In the second class Los Angeles captured all the prizes. They were taken by Charles Hubsch, Harvey H. Hinks, Otto Rapp and George Carsten. In the first class Charles Mueller of San Diego and George Golding, Fritz Okey, Ivan Ball, Ellis Eikes, Henry and George Welch won the prizes in the order named.

Tomorrow will be spent by the visitors in sightseeing.

Will Have Returns.

MEMPHIS (Tenn.) June 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The first attempt to serve poolrooms with race results by wireless telegraphy will be made tomorrow. Race results will be received here by private message and sent across the Mississippi to poolrooms in Arkansas by the Deforest wireless telegraph system.

GOOD BOWLING.

AVERAGES KEEP UP.

The greatest bowling event that has ever been held in this county is now on at St. Louis in the fre-to-the-world tournament that began May 8 and will continue until September 30. It is sanctioned by the American Bowling Congress, and from the number of prominent bowlers already entered and that are now entering, the contest promises to be the greatest thing in the history of bowling.

The winner will take the honor of world's champion. Over $1000 will be distributed in prizes, in addition to a diamond medal valued at $500, which will go to the champion. Each player will bowl fifteen games and total pins will be counted.

Los Angeles will have a representative in this contest in F. W. Samuelson, a member of the Monarch team. Sammie is too well known here to need special mention, for he is one of the best bowlers that Los Angeles has ever produced.

CLASS B TOURNEY.

The class B players still keep above the average, and each team is doing good work, considering the handicap of bowling in hot weather. The Long Beach team still holds down first place with a lead of 535 pins over the Westerners. The Monarch, No. 2, gained a big bunch of pins on the Westerners last week, and is crowding hard for second place. The feature of the tournament is the bowling of the Monarch, No. 2, trio, which is composed of two men and a woman, Mrs. H. C. Scott, who has made the high average of 164 29-110. Many local players believe that there are few, if any, women in the United States who can approach this average for 110 games.

Carrasco of the Westerners has a cinch on high individual average, as he appears to have all the other players outclassed. The standing of the six leading teams is as follows in pins:

Long Beach, 51,343; Westerners, 50,658; Monarch, No. 2, 50,434; Commercial, 50,002; Santa Fé, 50,000; Monarch, 49,585.

The "rubberneck" game is becoming quite popular with the bowlers at the Monarch alleys, which is probably due to the presence in this city of several Chicago players. Arthur Borderwick, formerly assistant manager of Cap. Anson's alleys; Si Taylor and O. A. Blattner, all of Chicago, may be found in the Monarch alleys any afternoon.

Ed Hollen did a little business with the Coast dockpin record at the Monarch last week, by making 145, C. W. Phillips having held the former record of 144.

HIGH SCORES.

The following high scores were made at the Monarch alleys last week:

Freeman, 200, 206; Mackenzie, 200, 222, 204, 209, 215, 223, 240, 202, 200, 213, 201; C. Tyler, 212; C. W. Maxson, 236, 217, 232, 216, 218, 211, 207, 215, 222, 235, 206, 208, 200; J. MRS. SHERLOCK HOLMES

How the Veteran Detective's Wife Helped to Give Him His Start in Life.

[New York Sun:]—"It is a familiar fact," said a veteran detective, "that many a man owes his success in life to his wife. This may be as true of a man in my business as it might be of one in any other, as I can testify from my own experience.

"The first really important case I ever had was one whose final solution depended on finding the sender of a certain bundle or package that figured in it; and we narrowed the hunt for the source of this package back until we brought up against two persons, a man and a woman, either of whom might have sent it.

"Now, the man was conspicuous in the community, and the woman prominent socially, and it might ruin me in my profession, right at the start to make a mistake with either. It was an even chance, I knew; I was as likely to pick the right one as the wrong one. It was a great risk to take and I must make no mistake.

"In this situation I took that bundle home to my wife to see if she could shed any light on it; I didn't suppose she could, but she might. I had been over the bundle myself, inside and out, forty times; and there wasn't a mark on it anywhere, and the stuff it contained might have been sent by anybody. But the good lady was a very shrewd, intelligent woman; and—she might.

"She picked up the bundle and looked it over, and her eye fell on something instantly.

"'Was this string that's on it,' she asked, 'on when you got it?'

"'No,' I said, 'I put that string around it myself. It was pinned together when it came.'

"'I thought so,' she said, and she unrolled the bundle and held the paper wrapper up between me and the light and showed me the pin holes that had caught her eye. And I had never taken in the real significance of the one pin that had made them! But I realized it now, before my wife began talking again.

"'Men,' she said, 'commonly tie up bundles; they never pin them. Women often tie up bundles, but as often they pin them up. This bundle couldn't have been sent by a man. It must have been sent by a woman.'

"And of course she was right, and I won the case and a good big start in my profession on her discovery in me of the true meaning of those little pin holes in the paper.

"Funny that I shouldn't have known all that myself? Maybe so, but I didn't know it all, then."

His Motive.

Grayce: Ferdy Huggins is so gallant. I always see him standing when in the street cars. He's so afraid he'll deprive some lady of a seat, I presume.

Edythe: No; it's because he's so afraid his trousers will get bagged. —[Houston Chronicle.

TO FRAME NEW CITY CHARTER.

RIVERSIDE TO ELECT BOARD OF FREEHOLDERS.

One Important Matter to be Considered is Status of Various Water Companies With Reference to City. Proposed Issue of Fire Bonds to be Voted Upon at Same Time.

RIVERSIDE, June 12.—One of the questions which will confront the Board of Freeholders soon to be elected to frame a new special charter for the city of Riverside, and one which is being advanced with some force by the opposition element to the fire-bond proposition, is the question of adjustment of the four separate and distinct water systems which now supply the various portions of the city with water. The four systems in question are the Riverside Water Company, supplying the business section and the valley; the Artesia, supplying the main portion of the residence district on the East Side; and the Keys and Cox systems, also supplying sections east of the railroad.

None of these companies have any franchise from the city, nor any more than temporary authority to maintain their pipe lines about the city's streets; and none of them is bound, either by contract or agreement, to keep sufficient pressure in the water mains and pipe lines to protect the city against fire. Each system is separate and distinct from the others, with no connection of water supply or pipe lines; and each is making a fight against odds to keep its own particular district supplied with sufficient water for simple domestic use.

If the charter framers form the new charter looking to unquestionable growth and expansion which must come with years, the question of adequate water supply must be very carefully considered; either contracts must be made with the present existing companies, binding them to furnish water enough to meet all needs and to keep pressure enough in the pipes to meet all calls for fire protection; or a franchise be granted to some one company, which will supply the entire city with one system, conform to the growth of the city and assume the responsibility of affording adequate fire protection. These propositions failing, the city will have to take the matter into its own hands, assume the entire responsibility of water supply and provide for its own protection.

It is also this question of water supply which is giving rise to opposition to the proposed $50,000 fire bonds. Without water, what is the good of fire engines, fire-alarm systems, etc.? is the question being asked. And with the water supply furnished from four separate and irresponsible heads, how is a system of fire mains, with water in them in sufficient quantity to be of protective value, to be constructed and maintained?

A strenuous protest is also coming from the valley people, the owners of orange groves and alfalfa ranches. Already burdened with over $100,000 bonds of public nature and the support of the irrigation supply of the Riverside Water Company, with a disastrous year past, a dry year in prospect, and property values on the decline, they object to being asked to pay a $25,000 share of the bond issue for the protection of the business section and portions in which they have no interest, and which will afford them, directly, no protection at all.

Nevertheless, the City Trustees next Tuesday will fix a date for an election of a Board of Freeholders, and at this same election the question of fire bonds or no will be submitted for settlement. Every one will then have a chance to express himself for or against the proposition in a way which will mean something, and whether the ayes are in majority enough to carry the bonds is a question—this in spite of the fact that above all things else, protection against fire is most needed.

YOUTHFUL CRIMINALS.

Police circles have been interested the past few days in a trio of youthful criminals who compare favorably with the gang recently disposed of in Santa Ana. Burglarizing a grocery store, appropriating a horse, harness and wagon, and stealing a turkey were the crimes which got Claude Baker, aged 14; Earl Baker, aged 12, and Grover Smith, aged 11, into the toils and which landed the first-named in the County Jail waiting action of the Superior Court to commit him to Whittier.

Two nights in succession last week Van Zolenberg's grocery store was broken into and some cherries, walnuts and canned goods stolen. Friday the boys took a horse and rig belonging to Mrs. Perez on East Eleventh, while the owner was away from home, and used it to haul some oranges which they had stolen, to the various packing-houses about town, trying to sell them. It was learned also that they had been selling cherries and walnuts around town, and they were arrested.

The Baker boys were first apprehended, and said that Grover Smith had helped them burglarize the store. Earl, the youngest Baker boy, confessed to having stolen a turkey, which he had sold.

The parents of young Smith were sent for, and upon their pleading for a chance to keep the boy straight, he was given his freedom for so long as he behaves himself. The youngster of the Baker boys was also turned loose, but the elder, Claude, was bound over by Justice Stephenson, under $100 bail, and locked up in the County Jail, pending action of the courts. This young criminal was committed to Whittier once before, but for some reason the papers were never made out. There is little doubt but he will reach that institution, however, on the present charges.

RIVERSIDE BRIEFS.

The churches of the city opened children's day tonight, and special programmes of music and exercises by the younger members of the Sunday-schools were given in almost all of them.

The formal opening and dedication services were held this morning for the First Baptist Church. The church has been in use some weeks, but only last week were the new pews and carpets put in place and the interior finally completed. Rev. A. M. Petty of Los Angeles and several laymen of the church spoke, and an attractive musical programme was rendered.

A considerable delegation from the local Concordia Singing Society left last night and this morning to attend the Saengerfest held at San Diego today.

About sixty teachers and pupils of the Universalist Sunday-school held a picnic at Urbita Springs yesterday. The party was in charge of Mrs. W. P. Russell, superintendent of the Sunday-school, and I. W. Gleason. Among those who went were Rev. and Mrs. Benton and children, Mrs. Francis Cuttle and children and the families of T. C. Wallace, I. W. Gleason, A. J. Stalder, C. D. Allen and Fred Worsley.

SANTA ANA.

NEW Y.M.C.A. BRANCH.

SANTA ANA, June 12.—A conference of representatives of the various evangelical denominations of the city was held this afternoon at the First Methodist Church under the auspices of the Ministerial Association to discuss the practicability of the institution of a Young Men's Christian Association here. State Secretary B. B. Wilcox was present and addressed the gathering relative to the benefits to be derived from the association, the best methods of going about the work and something of what it may be expected to accomplish. Mr. Wilcox strongly advocated that the proposed association secure its own building and be free of the necessity of renting quarters for its work. If rooms were rented he estimated the cost of the first year's work at about $4500, including the salary of secretary and all necessary equipment for gymnasium and educational work. After a general discussion of the question by members of the Ministerial Association and various business men present, the meeting authorized the Ministerial Association to proceed with the attempt to organize an association. Mr. Wilcox, for the State association, promised its hearty coöperation in the work.

FULLERTON.

NO TRACE OF ELOPERS.

FULLERTON, June 12.—The search for young Carrisosa and Miss Bleecher of Anaheim, who eloped yesterday, has been continued all day, but up to tonight they have not been located. The horse and buggy which the boy sold here and recovered, to make his escape in, belongs to his father. One of the gold watches also belongs to Carrisosa, Sr. It is reported a warrant will be issued to have Carrisosa arrested on a charge of taking the horse and buggy.

CRUSHED WIFE'S SKULL WITH AX.

AWFUL CRIME OF A SAN BERNARDINO BUTCHER.

Jealousy and Drink Caused a Quarrel and the Assault Followed. Murderous Husband Still at Large. Saloon Keeper Beam Who Killed Miner to be Tried Today.

SAN BERNARDINO, June 12.—Fred Valensula, a Mexican butcher, inspired by jealousy and drink, viciously assaulted his wife with an ax at their home at Seventh and Mount Vernon streets tonight, splitting open her forehead and inflicting injuries which will probably result in death. The crime was witnessed by the woman's mother and sister-in-law, whose screams scared Valensula away before he had completed his murderous work. He had been taunting his wife about her first husband, which she resented. He then seized an ax and felled her to the floor by a blow across the forehead, the blade of the weapon making a terrible wound. He dealt her several vicious blows on the back of the head, fracturing the skull. The other two women rushed from the building, screaming, at which Valensula escaped from the rear of the house and is still at large.

FOR AN OLD ASSAULT.

The Beam-Forsythe assault case tomorrow morning comes up for trial in the Superior Court. Beam clubbed a miner named Jack Forsythe over the head, and two days later he died of the rupture of a blood vessel in the brain. Fifteen minutes later Forsythe was found by the police clinging for support to a post. He was supposed to be intoxicated, and was taken to jail, and the next morning removed to the County Hospital in an unconscious state, dying the following day. The County Hospital superintendent is positive that the blows administered by Beam caused the vessel to rupture; Beam's physicians are equally confident that the blows had nothing to do with it, but insist that long years of overindulgence in intoxicants was responsible, and other physicians are non-committal.

The Coroner's jury brought in a verdict holding Beam directly responsible for the man's death, but at the preliminary hearing the action against him was dismissed, the evidence not warranting the charge of murder which was lodged against him. None of the officers would swear to a complaint a second time, and so the matter was taken before the grand jury, which promptly indicted Beam for assault with a deadly weapon, and it is upon this charge that he will be tried tomorrow. Since the preliminary hearing a number of important witnesses have disappeared.

CHAPTER OF ACCIDENTS.

Lloyd Paine, a small boy, fell thirty feet into a well yesterday, escaping injury as by a miracle. He with a number of companions were playing about the mouth of the well when he slipped over the edge. His companions summoned help, and those who responded expected to find the boy dead, and were surprised when he responded to their calls that he wasn't hurt. They let a rope down the well, which he managed to tie about him, and in this way was drawn to the surface.

W. H. Readman, a carpenter fell from the roof of a house at Colton yesterday, being rendered unconscious for several hours. His injuries are supposed to be serious. While working on the roof he was attacked with dizziness, and before he could prevent his fall he had tumbled head first to the ground.

Herbert Coleman of Rialto accidentally shot himself through the hand this morning while toying with a pistol which he forgot was loaded. The lead lodged under the skin, having passed through the hand, making an ugly wound.

The 11:30 Los Angeles-Redlands train over the Santa Fé collided with a bakery wagon driven by George Probert, throwing him out, painfully injuring him, and completely wrecking the wagon. The accident occurred in Carter avenue. Probert's horse had taken fright at the approaching train, and attempted to cross the track in front of the engine.

VENTURA.

DARKNESS MUCH PREFERRED.

VENTURA, June 12.—A storm of protest has gone up from among the young people of this city, and some older folks are taking the side of ardent youth. It is this: Ventura has one particular and advantageous spooning place. It is the platform erected by popular subscription at the foot of Oak street. The platform is built out over the beach and the tide-water plays about beneath. It has become the favorite trysting-place for lovelorn youth. On soft nights the platform is filled with couples. So popular has the place grown for lovers that only people in pairs dare go there.

But someone suggested an arc light be but over the platform. Immediately a "kick" came from all sides. The man who proposed it has brought a world of trouble on his shoulders and is getting it hot and heavy from all sides, not alone from the young but older people as well. "What," said one pretty young woman today, "would they deprive us of all the fun? Why do they want to put a light there? It is better as it is. We do not need a light on the platform and if one is put there you'll soon find that the place will be abandoned entirely." The young men, of course, believe with the girls and will enter a vigorous protest. The matter was the subject of discussion at a recent meeting of a popular women's club.

CAMINO REAL MEETING.

Charles F. Lummis of Los Angeles delivered two addresses in Ventura yesterday, in the afternoon and evening, in the interest of the Camino Real Association of this county. Mr. Lummis advised organization and succeeded before he left in putting the association on a thorough working basis. The following committee was appointed to take charge of affairs in the county: Hon. Marion Cannon, Supervisor T. G. Gabbert, Mrs. L. B. Hopper, Mrs. Alice McKevett, Mrs. Harriet A. Barry, Mrs. W. H. Layne, Supervisor Hugh Warring, Mrs. B. T. Williams, Mrs. J. A. Walker, Mrs. M. E. Dudley, Mrs. D. S. Blackburn, Miss Louise Seymour, Mrs. John Wagner, Mrs. T. R. Bard, Albert Maulhart, Hon. D. T. Perkins, Mrs. Ella Orr, Mrs. E. P. Foster, T. A. Rice and Mrs. Gally.

SHORT DEER SEASON.

The Board of Supervisors yesterday passed a game ordinance covering deer of importance to sportsmen and others. It reads that any person in Ventura county who hunts, pursues, takes, kills or has in his possession any male deer, or any deer meat, between September 1 of any year and July 15 of the following year, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and anyone found guilty shall be punished by imprisonment of not less than ten days nor more than 150 days, or by a fine of not less than $20 nor more than $500, or by both fine and imprisonment. This ordinance will be the law after July 1, 1904. Other ordinances passed by the board on previous occasions and covering the taking of deer are repealed.

The following applicants for certificates to teach were successful in the recent examinations: J. L. Gilkerson, Hannah Hoffman, Mattie Mortenson, Blanche Hammon, Edna H. Knapp, Marie L. Nelson, Carolyn Crossman, Nevin Whitehead.

Word has been received here that Albert Ayers, who went to San Francisco a few months ago for treatment, is dying. Assessor James Donlan left yesterday for the North to be at the bedside of his friend. Ayers is one of the pioneers of the county and has filled several offices of trust during his career.

Stephen Easley of the Simi had his right leg amputated yesterday at the Bard hospital by Drs. Cunane and Huning. Mr. Easley was hurt about six weeks ago at his home by being thrown from his wagon.

STRONG WORDS TO GRADUATES.

...PREACHED TO PASADENA STUDENTS.

Robert R. Meredith Points a Lesson from an Old Testament Text—Indignant Citizen Uses Strong Language in Communication to School Board.

PASADENA, Office of The Times, 24 South Raymond Avenue, June 12.—Strong character was the theme of the address delivered last evening in the First Presbyterian Church by Robert R. Meredith, to the graduating class of the Pasadena High School. The text selected was the last verse of the fourteenth chapter of Joshua: "And Joshua blessed him, and gave Hebron unto Caleb, the son of Jephunneh, for an inheritance." The speaker said in part:

"In the record of an exceptionally strong man to an exceptional man, and in an exceptional way. Caleb is one of the original characters in whom we have a personal interest. The development of a strong character is a noble duty. But the question of moral strength relative to others is one that you are bound to answer equal to that of the man beside you. The development of character and a strong character independent of circumstances of birth and environment. The world is slow to learn this lesson. The past men have looked upon things of the messenger rather than the import of the message. The days of her nonage the world has poured contempt upon some of her sons, because they lacked the noblest lineage. But these have passed away. The question of every new aspirant is 'What came you?' but 'What is there may be some semblance of the past who consolate, 'Have you a grandfather the great world of the workers will thunder to you a soul, a lofty purpose eye, a heart of power, you a giant's strength, a child's simplicity, a will!' If you have, there is for you and high service. Equal in character and you equal in your deeds.

"A high premium on physical courage and cowardice is the unpardonable sin of the soldier which leads to contempt everywhere. Courage is a virtue of a higher and nobler origin than physical. It is often a consciousness of virtue. Be one in the pursuit or above it superior to the fear of opposition or contempt.

"There is one code for their political brother for their private life. In the store and quite another in the church. Let us not deceive ourselves. Honesty never bends. Honesty it stands at all, like a Grecian marble. You may think you may grind it into many parts, but cannot bend it. He who is true in politics will be dishonest anywhere. The highest principle, the highest expediency. There is impossible to us except that from principle, have confidence in them, honor confidence in them, keep God's commandments."

...WAXES WROTH.

Hitchcock has written a letter which has heard anent the opening address, in which he asks if the president and secretary of their position as servants of the district when they autocratically refuse not to do what they were legally instructed by the board to do." Mr. Van Etten says why the avenue is not ready for the fact that "undue delay cannot be tolerated." And fearing that they may not think he means what he says, he has outgrown such schools, and neither a lot of chaff about the conduct of the meeting, nor an opinion of the attorney given on a misstatement of the circumstances, will have the effect of ignoring of a legal opinion of the district, will avail.

The board is asking the city council authorizing the issuance of bonds for $25,000, it may be necessary to show respect to the matter taken, and take steps to correct in question. This action may affect the contractors and people in their judgment.

SAWTELLE.

A WEDDING SURPRISE.

SAWTELLE, June 12.—The annual "Children's Day" was observed at the Baptist Church this evening. The house was beautifully decorated with flags, bunting, flowers in festoons, bouquets, wreaths, and potted plants. A large heart with cross in center and musical staff across it entwined with vines and flowers, occupied the center of the platform. A set piece by the young ladies' class, who hung tiny wreaths upon the staff forming the notes of "Praise God from Whom All Blessings Flow" had a very pretty effect. The singing and recitations were well rendered by the members of the Sunday-school classes.

Among these charming surroundings, and at the close of the exercises, Capt. J. C. Kramer of the Soldiers' Home, and Miss Mattie Smith of Sawtelle, with the members of the choir, surprised their friends with something that was not on the programme. Having retired from the choir platform by a side door, while the pastor, Rev. George Taylor detained the congregation, they formed a wedding procession, and came into the church down through the center aisle to the platform, where they were met by Pastor Taylor, who united them in marriage. Miss Daisy Calhoun was the bridesmaid, and W. H. Metcalf, best man. It was a happy surprise, and the bride and groom received hearty congratulations from their friends.

PRES. GATES TO UNION SCHOOLS.

"THE LARGER LIFE" IS COLLEGE PRESIDENT'S THEME.

Hollywood Union High School Students and Their Friends Listen to Annual Address by the President of Pomona College—Attendance at Higher Institution Urged.

HOLLYWOOD, June 12.—Memorial Methodist Episcopal Church was filled this evening with High School students and their friends to hear an address delivered by Dr. George D. Gates, president of Pomona College. Principal J. O. Churchill presided. The church was beautifully decorated with roses and other flowers, and an enjoyable musical programme was rendered. Dr. Gates spoke as follows:

"I bring to you an appeal for the larger life. A writer in the book of Proverbs says that all the things that can be desired are so insignificant that they cannot even be compared to wisdom. It is hard to make young people believe that, but the world has its way of teaching it most effectively to us later on; but then it is too late for us to get that generous kind of wisdom which modern higher education can peculiarly give.

"Of what use is it that California spends 66 per cent. of all its revenues upon its schools, unless the boys and girls take advantage of this? Most do so for the common schools, but far too few go on to the higher institutions.

"So far as you, young man or woman, are concerned, these great institutions, colleges and universities, may as well not exist, if you are to remain away from them.

"I plead with you to take time to grow. If God had wanted you to get 'into life,' as you are fond of calling it sooner, He would have had you born earlier.

"I beg of you not to begin to specialize too early. Wait till you have a mind cultivated enough to do your specializing efficiently. Sharpen the tool, your mind, before you set it to its special work. The broader education you are likely to get now or never. You will be deep in your profession, your business, your work later on.

"The specialist, lawyer, physician, teacher, preacher, engineer, business man, need not be a narrow specialist. Why not in every such place be a broad-gauged man? Wherever your life may be there are sure to be many occasions in which you can use the broadest training and most abundant stock of knowledge you can acquire. 'Ask your elders, they will tell you' it is so.

"Did you ever know a man who regretted any advantage of education he gave himself at whatever cost or sacrifice?

"On the contrary, how many do you know who would get more education, if they could have the chance to try life over again. But this stern world of human life gives us one chance, then it is over for us.

"This commercial age crowds and calls. Heed it not.

"The demands of this noble world are ever for larger men and women."

EL MONTE.

SCHOOL DAYS OVER.

EL MONTE, June 12.—The graduating exercises of the El Monte Union High School were held in Cave's Hall Friday night. The graduating class is composed of Misses Josephine Ritter, Margaret McGirk and Mabel Quinn and Fred Farmer. An excellent programme was presented, opening with a song by the High School Glee Club, followed by an invocation by Rev. Enos P. Baker of the Mountain View Presbyterian Church. Fred Farmar spoke on the subject of "Greek Civilization," Miss Margaret, McGirk handled the subject of "California, the Ideal State." "Idealising" was Mabel Quinn's subject. Josephine Ritter chose for her essays "Places Which We Revere." All the essays were good and well rendered and showed careful study. Music for the occasion was as follows: Vocal solo, Mrs. May Warren; vocal quartette, Miss Lulu Drake, Mrs. N. C. Freer, Mrs. May Warren, and Miss Mabel Lambert. The El Monte Band rendered an overture and waltz. Prof. Ferguson of the Southern California University gave an address, speaking of "Ideas and Ideals." The speaker advised the graduating class to continue their education, and never be satisfied with present attainments. Mr. Ferguson dwelt at length on the struggle between Japan and Russia, showing that fighting strength depended, not on the guns, but the men back of them. He stated that the American ideas and ideals had done much for Japan, as is being shown in the war. P. F. Cogswell presented the diplomas. These are the first graduating exercises held by the El Monte High School.

LONG BEACH.

JUMPED FROM MOVING TRAIN.

LONG BEACH, June 12.—In his effort to save time, Frank Sullivan was badly injured last night by jumping from the Salt Lake theater train before it stopped. The ligaments of his hip were badly torn and he will be invalided for several weeks.

SERMON TO GRADUATES.

The baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class of the High School was delivered today by Rev. Charles Pease at the First Congregational Church. His address was strong and practical. By analogy he showed how the demands of society on the youth have steadily been growing more and more strenuous until it is only the thoroughly-prepared and well-balanced who succeed. It is an age of exactness. The old formula, "Purpose, preparation, patience," is still good, but more emphatic. Yet failure is preferable to dishonest financial success. Success, though largely measured by dollars, consists wholly in the development of character, and this fact is now recognized in the commercial world as never before. Character has become a merchantable commodity, and success in every sense awaits the man who has it.

The High School orchestra and the church quartette furnished the music.

POMONA.

DEATH OF MRS. WICKWARE.

POMONA, June 12.—The death of Mrs. Eliza Wickware, wife of George C. Wickware, a San Francisco capitalist, occurred here last night following an illness of several years' duration. Mrs. Wickware lived for many years at the Occidental Hotel, San Francisco, but came here for her health some time ago, Mr. Wickware building a handsome residence on Holt avenue. The deceased was 76 years of age, and was the mother of Mrs. Oscar F. Giffin and grandmother of Mrs. Vivian D. Ely of this city, and Mrs. Edward B. Tufts of Los Angeles. The funeral will be held from the house at 1:30 p.m. on Tuesday, and the remains will be taken to San Francisco for interment, accompanied by Mr. Wickware and Mrs. Giffin.

GLENDALE.

ROUTE FOR NEW BOULEVARD.

GLENDALE, June 12.—A reception was held at Ayer's Hall Friday evening by the members of the Methodist Church in honor of their minister, Rev. R. C. Norton. An interesting programme was rendered, the principal feature of which were: Invocation by Rev. Merrill; song, Marple Quartette; vocal solo, Mrs. A. L. Bryant; piano solo, Miss Anita Wells; vocal solo, Miss Roma Coolridge; vocal solo, Una Russell; selections on the graphophone; and addresses by Capt. W. S. Hall and Rev. Norton.

The Glendale Grammar School held pleasing exercises Friday afternoon in honors of its graduating class, composed of Melson Sprinkle, Una Russell, May Fausett, Ann Grant and Mabel Benson. The programme consisted of songs and recitations by the school and essays by the class. The essays were: "Success," Ann Grant; "Opportunity," Una Russell; "California Missions," May Fausett; "Life of Jefferson," Mabel Benson; "The American Citizen,' Melson Sprinkle. The address of the afternoon was given by Prof. G. U. Moyse, principal of the Glendale Union High School, the presentation address being given by Rev. Charles D. Merrill.

The Boulevard Committee met Saturday evening and decided to make an effort to secure the old woollen mill ditch right of way, recently abandoned by the City Water Company. After crossing the Los Angeles River with the bridge for which the citizens are petitioning, and going up a slight elevation, the route would connect with this old ditch, and the grade would be good enough for a steam railroad from that point to Sunset Boulevard in the city. The road would pass on the west side of the large lake and reservoir, which the city has decided to make between Ivanhoe and the city. Pasadena people are beginning to realise the importance of this drive and are cooperating with the committee.

The Committee on Awards was Tad Gray, Win Toland, George Farnsworth, and H. E. Nichols. The prizes, which cost $75, were contributed by Thomas McD. Potter, of Los Angeles.

The committee announces another tournament for Thursday, the 16th inst., to be given under similar rules.

"JEWFISH DAY."

Yesterday was "jewfish day." If anyone is hankering after a mess of "boneless cod" they will be liberally supplied by applying to J. W. Northrop today. There were six of these big monsters hung up on the racks, aggregating half a ton, and they were a sight to see. Four of these were brought in by the launch Katherine, J. W. Northrop, H. W. Meyst and George Johnson handling the rods. Their largest fish weighed 280 pounds, and it was taken in fifty minutes; the next largest, 226 pounds, time twenty-five minutes; third, 118 pounds, time twenty minutes; fourth, 100 pounds, time thirty minutes.

In company with the Katherine was Gilmour Sharp with his launch, from which Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Brown handled the rods. Mrs. Brown had all the luck from this boat, landing a 205-pound fish entirely unaided.

To round out the half dozen, H. E. Smith, who was out with Tad Gray, rounded up a 180-pound fish, which he conquered in 25 minutes.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Tom Green, the original Catalina stage-driver, came over yesterday with a few of his friends, and to keep his hand in drove the six-horse team to the summit and back this morning, giving his friends the ride of their life.

Gen. and Mrs. A. W. Barrett arrived at the Metropole yesterday. Gen. Barrett is president of the Tuna Club, and it seems to be up to him to produce the tuna this year, as none have been reported so far. They are here for a month.

Dr. J. J. Choate of Los Angeles, with two of his nephews from Berkeley, are here enjoying the fishing.

SANTA MONICA.

WORKED BY BOY GRAFTER.

SANTA MONICA, June 12.—The officers up and down the beach are looking for one of the smoothest fakers that has operated on the beach in many a day. The extreme youth of the fellow is responsible for the success of his game. The fellow is only about 15 or 16 years old and during the week or ten days he has been operating on this beach he has succeeded in bilking the generously-inclined people out of many dollars. The boy gives his name variously and says his home is in Santa Ana. His mother sent him out to sell vegetables, or fruit, or butter, and the man to whom he sold couldn't pay for it right away, and with pleading eyes the boy says his mother will be worried if he doesn't return home at once. He has no money and won't somebody please assist him to at least enough car fare to take him back home? And everybody who was approached assisted him. The story was so reasonable and the boy had the appearance of being an honest farmer boy. He has been making a good thing out of it at Ocean Park and up and down the street here he worked everybody for from two-bits to a dollar each, the latter sum being contributed by a minion of the law who now seeks the little beggar since he has learned that the lad worked several other members of his family and all of his friends and neighbors. The boy wears knee pants and a red shirt, and weighs about 135 pounds. He has disappeared from this city, but other communities may be prepared for his tale of woe.

PRIZES FOR VACATION WORK.

With the object of encouraging High School and grammar grade pupils to better effort and to afford occupation during some of the hours of summer vacation, Mayor T. H. Dudley is offering prizes aggregating $50. Four prizes for the grammar school are for the best composition on the subject of the Philippine Islands. Three prizes for the High School are for the best composition on the Japanese-Russian war. The contest closes September 10. Mr. Dudley purposes offering similar prizes every year.

The officer who is conducting the registration of electors here reports that Santa Monica precinct No. 1 has registered 305 votes: No. 2, 173; No. 3, 150. Ocean Park has registered only 30.

Preparations are being made by the Royal Arcanum for the celebration on the beach here Thursday, June 23, by the councils of Southern California of the twenty-seventh anniversary of the founding of the order.

The Methodist Sunday-school teachers and pupils had a picnic yesterday in Santa Monica Cañon.

COVINA.

PREACHER VS. EDITOR.

COVINA, June 12.—A sensation was sprung this morning in the Methodist Episcopal Church, following the announcements, by the pastor, the Rev. Harcourt W. Peck, in publicly denouncing an article which appeared in the Covina Argus of Saturday, in which two youths, members of the Methodist Episcopal Sunday-school, were criticised for unseemly behavior at the services at another church on the previous Sunday evening. Rev. Peck took strong exceptions to the fact that the article spoke of the youths as being members of his Sunday-school, and publicly demanded on behalf of the school an apology from the editor, who was present, and inferred in his closing remarks that the pen pusher had been repeatedly guilty in his paper of covert attacks upon the church and the pastor. Editor Matthews subsequently expressed himself as surprised and pained at the uncalled-for action of this preacher, and denied emphatically that he intended any insult by the article to the Sunday-school or its officials, but that an apology thus demanded would probably not be forthcoming until the last trump had sounded. Dr. Peck is the man who accused Prof. Mitchell of the Boston University of teaching infidelity, and whose bitter fight against this teacher has brought him into considerable notoriety during the past General Conference.

CLAREMONT.

INDIAN BURYING GROUND.

CLAREMONT, June 12.—T. W. Martin, who owns a large bee farm north of Claremont, has disclosed an old Indian burying ground, not a mile from this town. The graveyard is situated on the southeast side of Indian Hill, close against the precipice formed by the mesa. Mr. Martin settled here in the seventies and traded with the Indians then inhabiting the hill. The graves may be seen now by anyone; a small mound of dirt, or a depression, or a pile of boulders clearly mark the separate graves, of which there are between eighty and one hundred.

MASQUERADE BALL.

The Renwick gymnasium was crowded last night by a gay crowd of masked students. The affair was given by the Misses Phelps and Winans to the girls of Sumner Hall, each lady bringing with her a masked gentleman friend. The affair was attended with much sport, the best feature of the evening being the unmasking moment, when all masquerades were lifted.

ENLARGED EQUIPMENT.

The College School of Music, under the charge of Prof. Fred A. Bacon, has made an important addition to the equipment. A grand concert piano has been purchased and will be installed in the near future. A concert is to be given tomorrow night to help raise funds to pay for the instrument. The best Los Angeles and local talent will render musical selections.

PORT ITEMS.

ALONG THE WATER FRONT.

WEATHER: Clear at 5 p.m.; wind southwest, velocity 15 miles.

The large four-masted schooner Alert, under the command of Capt. Krebs, was towed to sea yesterday from Hoquiam for Guaymas, Mex., carrying 600,000 feet of lumber.

The freight and passenger steamer Coos Bay is scheduled to clear from San Francisco today for San Pedro and way ports consigned to the Pacific Coast Steamship Company.

The following changes of masters of Pacific Coast vessels are reported: R. B. Lelke has been replaced by Leopold Frederick as master of the schooner Milton; B. Andfindsen has taken command of the steamer Newburg, relieving A. Andersen; J. Sloan has been enrolled as master of the barkentine Retriever.

The schooner G. M. Watson finished loading at Astoria and sailed yesterday with a full lumber cargo for San Pedro.

The schooner Muriel finished discharging a lumber cargo at Redondo and sailed for Honolulu in ballast.

The schooner Meteor, which arrived late last night from Port Blakeley, making the quick trip of eight days, brought 750,000 feet of lumber consigned to the San Pedro Lumber Company.

The schooner Ludlow finished discharging a lumber cargo for the San Pedro Lumber Company and sailed today in ballast for Tacoma to reload. Capt. A. Langkilde succeeds Capt. William Fornstrom in command of the vessel. Advices have been received from Eureka that Capt. Personal questions, on ores, minerals, earths or metals of non-commercial value, and assays for metal, will not be answered, but should be referred direct to analysts and assayers. Where the Silver Went.

LOS ANGELES, May 31, 1904.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I dissolved a foreign coin in "aqua regia," which to my knowledge contained gold, copper and silver. What puzzles me is this. I got copper and gold from part of the solution, but no silver. Can you account for this? I am not a chemist.

Yours respectfully, M. R. R.

Answer: The silver was not taken into solution, as were the other two metals, and should be found at the bottom of the vessel in which you made the experiment.

"Pharaoh's Serpents."

LOS ANGELES, June 4, 1904.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In a month our national holiday is to be observed. It is my wish to make some "Pharaoh's serpents" for my little pupils. I had a recipe given me which was supposed to be good, but the results are unsatisfactory. I will be under obligations if you will publish a method by which the results asked for may be obtained.

Yours respectfully, G. B. W.

Answer: We cheerfully print this formula, which, perhaps, may be the one you have; if so, the unsatisfactory results you mention were occasioned either by a wrong combination of chemicals, or mistaken substitution of such. Formula follows:

Dissolve one ounce of mercury (quicksilver) in two

Not a Bucket Shop.

The name of Elmer E. Cole, No. 215 American Bank building, should not have been included in the list of bucket shops which have "kicked the bucket." Mr. Cole has removed his office to the Laughlin building, but never did a blackboard business.

Beery Kids.

The crowded cars which returned from Scheutzen Park last night loaded with merry makers from the union brewery picnic bore some very noisy people, and the condition of some of the children which piled off was such that the attention of an officer was attracted. He asked why the children appeared to be boozy. "Oh," said a red-faced father, "My boy, he carry beer for me all the afternoon, and I let him drink what is left in the mugs."

Anaheim Landing Opened.

The first regular passenger car was run to Anaheim Landing yesterday over the new line of the Pacific Electric Pacific railway company and a one-hour service has been instituted. The trip proved popular from the start, hundreds of people taking it just to see the country which is being opened up beyond Long Beach toward Newport Bay. General Manager Schindler stated yesterday that cars would be running to Huntington Beach by July 1. They are now operated as far as the Bolsa Chica Gun Club property.

Mean Burglar.

Some man who can't pay his grocery bills burglarized the store of J. D. Moreland at the corner of Pico and Olive streets at an early hour yesterday morning. Entrance was effected by knocking out the transom of the rear door, which was then opened to enable the easy removal of a quantity of canned meats, cheap cigars, smoking tobacco, a sack of flour, some condensed milk and a half sack of potatoes. Dastardly work was done on a new cash register with a hatchet, a few pennies and some telephone slugs being taken.

Rough House on Car.

Passengers on car No. 94 of the Los Angeles-Pacific Railway Company, bound for the city from Playa del Rey, were terrorized by a gang of toughs early last evening. Three men, who were under the influence of liquor, started a "rough house" and insulted a number of women on the car. Indignant passengers aided the conductor in quelling the disturbance, and when a stop was made the police of this city were notified. Four officers met the car at the Fourth-street station, but the toughs had jumped off at Ninth street. J. R. Johnson, a passenger, says that the acts of the men were disgraceful. Officers of the company learned that the name of the ringleader of the gang is Hoard, and that he is a lineman. Warrants for the arrest of the trio will be asked for today.

Dog Men's Bluff.

Representatives of the sporting fraternity of San Francisco and Fresno are in the city making a loud talk about reopening coursing in Ascot Park. Officers of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals consider the threat a bluff, notwithstanding the fact that the men jingle coin, and say they have plenty of it to back up their intention. "If they want to try the game here we are ready for them," said Earl Rogers last night. "They may bring their dogs and jacks but they will find trouble awaiting the first slip of the hounds. There will not be any coursing down here as long as I am the attorney for the society if it takes every cent of my own money to beat them. In every case which has been brought to test, and there have been several of them, the sports have told how they were going to fight it out in the courts, but as yet not one cent has been spent in defense."

For the Shut-ins.

"Something white, something bright, something sweet; flowers which are to God akin," were taken to the "shut-ins" of this city yesterday by representatives of the various branches of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union in commemoration of Jenpie Cassidy, who was the first national superintendent of the Flower Mission. About twenty-five ladies spent the day visiting the County Hospital, county and city jails and other places where the "shut-ins" are to be found. On their arms were baskets filled with little bunches of carnations, sweet peas and other nosegays each tied with a bright ribbon and each bearing a tiny card with a text scripture. At the County Jail there were about 125 prisoners who assembled to join in the singing of hymns and hear the reading of passages from the Bible by Mrs. Mary Boyd, who had charge of the mission work. Ordinarily no more than seven women at a time are allowed in the County Jail on Sunday afternoon, but yesterday an exception was made. The men joined in and their harsh rough voices were in touching contrast with the soft treble of the women.

Dr. Tyndall on Sin.

An audience that filled Blanchard Hall to the doors greeted Dr. Alexander J. McIvor-Tyndall in his lecture on "Keepers of the Threshold" yesterday afternoon. Dr. McIvor-Tyndall spoke briefly on the esoteric meaning of the phrase, saying that the idea of there being something to overcome before the soul may enter into desired realms, is the foundation of all religions and philosophies. This something is the "devil," the "keepers of the threshold," or the war between the physical and the spiritual man. The famous lecturer said in part: "I think that the world will make far greater progress if she will do away with the doctrine of something that must be overcome, some invisible enemy that must be vanquished. I for one do not believe that the physical is the enemy of the spiritual, or that we should waste our power in "overcoming" anything. Such effort is power wrongly directed. I say to you, 'cease striving so strenuously to 'overcome' your faults and your 'sins,' as the church calls them. Instead realize their nothingness. Expend your force in realizing their opposite. You only give them power by resisting them. That is the essence of the Master's teaching which says: 'Resist not evil.' There is nothing to be overcome before the soul may claim its birthright. There is only the necessity of realizing that faith and aspiration are the open sesame to spiritual guidance and conscious association with angels." Some of the experiments will be repeated next Sunday, when Dr. McIvor-Tyndall will lecture on "Life After Death."

BOBWELL & NOYES, Third and Broadway.

Yes, we know that all men are created equal.

But on the freight line of life, friend, we're all crated differently. No two men could be "billed" just alike.

No two men ever looked equally well in the same suit. No man who really wants his attire to reflect his own personality, can afford not to afford getting his clothes made to order.

And for one reason or another most Los Angeles men thinking that way also think that they should have Brauer-Krohn labels in their clothing.

Just as a test of our tailoring talent, order a pair of Flannel Trousers from us. It takes genuine tailoring talent to put permanent grace into such thin stuff as summer flannel. But we do it. Do it for as little as $5.
